VANCOUVER JOBLESS HERE AFTER EVICTION

B.C. Policy Not To Be Shaped By Pressure Of Jobless

Premier Pattullo in Vancouver, Scene of Evictions and Clashes Yesterday in Which $50,000 damage Done, Says Government's Position Is Unchanged.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo told interviewers here today the British Columbia government's position in regard to unemployment was "quite unchanged," and that it would not be "frightened" into changing that position by an influx of jobless on Victoria.

The Premier, who arrived here by airplane from the provincial capital after he had previously announced his intention to come by boat, held a conference with Mayor G. G. Miller.

TO BACK LOAN FOR CITY

Later the Mayor told the City Council that as a means of aiding employment in Vancouver, the Premier was willing to sponsor the city's application for a $1,200,000 works loan under the proposed federal $30,000,000 low interest self-liquidating scheme.

In clashes and disturbances Sunday morning following the ejection of 500 unemployed men from the central post office and the Civic Art Gallery many plate-glass windows were broken, the total damage being estimated at $50,000.

NO DISORDER HERE

The Premier said the 100 unemployed who arrived in Victoria this morning would "not be permitted to stage any kind of disturbance." There was no way to stop them going to Victoria or from remaining there if they wanted to stay, but no disorderly conduct on the part of the men would be tolerated.

Mr. Pattullo said that so far as the provincial government was concerned, it would maintain its policy of reserving jobs on provincial works projects for long-time residents of British Columbia.

The government had all along offered unemployed men transportation back to their homes in other provinces, he said, an offer which was countered by the declaration from the jobless that most of them belonged in this province or had no permanent home. The Premier said the evictions were made following representations by him to Ottawa and Vancouver authorities. In disturbances following the evictions many plate-glass windows were broken, the total damage being estimated at $50,000.

"If it wasn't for hundreds of unemployed drifting into this province, we would be able to take care of our own people without any trouble," he said. "About 1,600 transients came to the province within the past month." If we gave them jobs there would soon be another 1,600 men here from the prairies."

MAY SEND MORE HERE

It is the declared intention of the Vancouver unemployed to keep adding to the numbers in Victoria if they do not receive satisfaction from the Premier.

"Our determination to send 1,500 men or more to Victoria still stands," J. W. Campbell, one of the unemployed leaders, declared. "Those of us leaving for Victoria haven't any intention of causing a disturbance. We just want to put our case before the government, to let them know we are destitute and in a desperate condition."

Campbell maintained the men in the post office and Civic Art Gallery here had voted unanimously to "come out under peaceful arrest." "But," he said, "it didn't work out that way. After the tear-gas bombs were thrown, and some of the men began to make for the exits, they were met by officers and savagely beaten down by police clubs. We didn't want trouble. It was plain the police had no intention of letting us leave under peaceful arrest."

Men's Leaders in Vancouver Say Group Here May Be Added To

VANCOUVER (CP)—R. W. Campbell, publicity agent for the Relief Project Workers' Union, said today after an interview with Premier Pattullo that there will "probably be a few more hundred unemployed problem children on Victoria's doorstep."

Campbell told interviewers a delegation of unemployed who saw the Premier this morning were "completely unsatisfied" with Mr. Pattullo's attitude in regard to unemployment.

He said a decision would be reached at a union meeting later today on whether 200 more unemployed would be sent to Victoria to "sit on the government's doorstep" until the government took definite action to relieve the present situation and "realize there is an unemployment problem in Vancouver. One hundred men were sent to the provincial capital last night, arriving in Victoria this morning.

The interview with the jobless delegation was one of a series the Premier held this morning, a day after 500 unemployed were

Heads of Ring Are Declared To Be Living in Germany

NEW YORK (AP)—Three indictments naming 18 persons were returned today by the federal grand jury which has been engaged in the United States government's first intensive espionage investigation since the World War.

The indictments were based on four weeks of closed hearings, during which scores of men and women were questioned, and several months of inquiry.

Two surprise witnesses—Johanna Hofmann, 26, head-hairdresser on the North German Lloyd liner Europa, and Private Erich Glaser, attached to the army air corps at Mitchell Field—were called before the grand jury shortly before the indictments were returned. Each is now held in $25,000 bail on complaints alleging espionage activity.

Scenes After Police Took Action Against "Sitdowners" in Vancouver

The top picture shows a "sitdowner" who collapsed on the sidewalk from the after-effects of tear-gas. A constable in uniform with a special constable behind him are also keeping another "sitdowner" moving. In the centre picture "sitdowners" are struggling for air after the breaking of a tear-gas bomb. A window in the post office has been broken and two men, lower left, have placed cloths over their noses. A section of the post office is shown in the lower picture after the "sitdowners" have gone. These pictures were rushed to the Times through the courtesy of the Vancouver Province. Another picture appears on Page 3.

POLICE TAKE PRECAUTIONS

City and Provincial Officers On Special Duty After Jobless Arrive

Special precautions were taken by city and provincial police in Victoria today to guard against disturbances.

When the delegation of 100 jobless men arrived on the morning boat from Vancouver five uniformed city officers stood at each entrance to the Parliament Buildings.

Four officers were posted on the front steps of the Parliament Buildings and two provincials at each of the side entrances.

At the city police station leaves were canceled and all officers were on duty during the day, except the nightshift. A group of provincial policemen came over from Vancouver yesterday.

Police were detailed to special duty at the Post Office, the Empress Hotel, the Crystal Garden and the Fudson's Bay Company's store.

Chief of Police J. A. McLellan said no tin-canning would be permitted without authority. The City Council some years ago laid down the policy that soliciting would only be allowed by special resolution of the council.

Mothers' Council Delegates Coming

A large delegation of the Mothers' Council of Vancouver will arrive in Victoria on the overnight boat tomorrow morning at 7 to give support to the 100 single unemployed men who came to Victoria from the mainland today, a spokesman for the men said this afternoon.

The men will go down to the docks to meet the delegation.

Five Still in Hospital After Sunday Fights With Jobless

VANCOUVER (CP)—Streets of this city today were in quiet contrast to the Sunday scenes of disturbance and great crowds of citizens who used the off-day to view the results of the clashes which accompanied the ejection by police with tear gas and riot sticks of 500 unemployed men from the central postoffice and the Civic Art Gallery.

Twenty-two jobless remained under arrest.

Toll of the fight between police and men evicted at the post office was five in hospital, scores of bandaged heads and legs and many eyes still stinging from tear gas. All were reported in good condition.

Constable Edgar Hembling is suffering from concussion and Constable J. Davies from leg injuries.

Steve Brodie, unemployed leader who was the most severely beaten before the post office, was recovering today from a split head. Two other unemployed in hospital are Arthur Redseth, lacerated eye, and Robert Porter, tear-gas poisoning.

Thirteen plateglass windows and most of the glass wickets were smashed in the post office as the men fled. As they ran along Cordova and Hastings Streets they broke scores of windows in lower downtown business houses.

Today the total damage was estimated at $50,000.

Pearson Declines Interview With Single Men Seeking Work; Men Plan to Await Premier's Return Tomorrow; Chief of Police Gives Permit for Meeting Tonight

"Invasion" Is Peaceful

One hundred single unemployed men who came to Victoria this morning, some bearing scars from the disturbance at the post office in Vancouver yesterday, failed to get an audience with the provincial government today.

Refused a hearing at the Legislative Buildings, they arranged a mass meeting at Central Park tonight at 7.30. From then onwards their plans were indefinite but their leaders indicated they would probably await the return of Premier Pattullo tomorrow afternoon.

NOT ASHAMED OF POLICE ACTS

Lapointe Tells Commons of Jobless Eviction at Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has no cause to be ashamed of the action of the police in ejecting several hundred single unemployed men from the Vancouver post office, where they had been living for nearly a month, Justice Minister Lapointe told the House of Commons this afternoon.

He was replying to J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, who denounced the ejection and demanded the government provide the men with food and shelter until they could obtain work.

Mr. Woodsworth precipitated what looked like a long debate on the Vancouver situation by moving adjournment of the House to discuss a matter of urgent public importance. His views were supported by Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.F.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce, Ont., and C. Grant MacNeil, C.C.F., Vancouver North.

The situation in Vancouver was so serious it demanded constructive action—not more police activity, but steps to provide work for the men, Mr. Woodsworth said.

Works Provide Jobs For 5,000

Hon. Geo. S. Pearson Says Governments Will Spend Heavily in B.C.

A survey made by relief and public works department officials today on instructions of Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, showed that close to 5,000 jobs will be made available in British Columbia this summer through government work projects.

Within the last few weeks various schemes have been announced calling for expenditure of $3,010,000, the survey showed. This is in addition to large sums being spent on national defence works by the federal government and to the ordinary provincial road maintenance vote of nearly $2,000,000, which employs from 8,000 to 10,000 men each summer. Various new work projects will provide jobs for nearly 4,000 men, officials said. Another 800 are being taken into forestry and mine training camps.

WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB WINNIPEG (CP)—Newspaper women from three countries assembled here today for the opening session of the triennial meeting of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

Soon after they arrived here David Ross, provincial organizer for the Relief Project Workers' Union, telephoned Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, asking for an interview.

Mr. Pearson told him that since the Premier was in Vancouver to meet the men there, no member of the government here was authorized to see them. Mr. Pearson said he had told Mr. Ross this before the delegation left Vancouver.

MEETING TONIGHT

Permission for the meeting tonight was granted by Chief of Police J. A. McLellan on application of the leaders.

The men congregated in the second story of 564 Yates Street, headquarters of the union. A spokesman this afternoon said they would make no further attempt to see the government today.

Refusal of the government to see the men today carried out the policy announced by the Premier Saturday.

This policy was unchanged despite the fighting and window smashing that followed the eviction of the "sitdowners" from the Post Office and Art Gallery in Vancouver early yesterday morning.

The Premier expressed regrets that this should have happened, but charged that "influences are at work subversive of constitutional authority."

ORDERLY MARCH

Orderliness marked the arrival of the delegation in Victoria.

The men disembarked from the Ss. Princess Elizabeth at about 7.15, a quarter-hour after the boat's arrival.

They marched in file down the long ramp from the dock and immediately fell in behind a party of 30 local sympathizers.

Chief of Police J. L. McLellan gave Jack Lucas, the division leader, permission for the men to parade to the Relief Project Workers' Union Hall at 564 Yates Street.

At the head of the parade marched Victoria men carrying Union Jacks, and two banners, one reading "Vancouver Single Unemployed, Welcome to Victoria," and the other "Advance Youth Club Welcomes You to Victoria."

Telford Talks Of Resignation

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Lyle Telford, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member of the British Columbia Legislature, announced today he intended to resign from the Legislature and would seek similar action by his six C.C.F. fellow-members.

The member for Vancouver East riding said his planned action was intended as a protest against "government stupidity and brutality" in evicting 500 men from the central post office and Civic Art Gallery here yesterday.

"We could force seven by-elections and place the matter squarely before the people for decision," Dr. Telford said.

$5000 INSURANCE and $25 a Month Pension at Age 60 for $11.60 a Month

The Mutual Life of Canada has a special plan for the young man who wants to provide adequate protection for his family during the years when the children are growing up, and under the same policy create a fund that will guarantee him a monthly income at age 60.

This is the "Security at 60" policy, and the protection provided for the annual premium required is particularly attractive. For instance, if you are age 30, a monthly premium of $11.60 gives you $5,000 insurance to age 60, when you will receive an income FOR LIFE of $25 per month. (Should you not live to receive the payments for at least ten years, the income of $25 per month would be continued to your beneficiary for the balance of the ten year period.) Annual Dividends are paid on this policy.

Any of our representatives or Head Office will be pleased to give you complete details regarding the Security at 60 Policy, which can be obtained in amounts of $2,000 and over.

Peace Feeler Sent Out By Japan

MOVE TO END WAR IN CHINA

Statement By Peiping Puppet Regime So Interpreted By Observers

PEIPING, China (CP-Havas)—A statement issued by the Japanese-sponsored Peiping provisional government urging an immediate cessation of hostilities, today was viewed by many qualified observers as a Japanese trial balloon for peace negotiations.

The statement bolstered the impression in some circles that the Japanese authorities wish to bring an end to military operations which are costing an estimated $5,000,000 a day and which have become increasingly difficult due to devastating floods in central China.

The statement, apparently inspired by Japanese officials, emphasized the horrors of war and called on the Chinese leaders to show "common sense" and admit their defeat. It assured them they would be "pardoned" by posterity if they made this "noble gesture."

MEDIATION OUTLOOK

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Japan's increasing difficulties in the Chinese campaign are fostering a spirit of moderation which may eventually lead to mediation of the conflict, the London Daily Telegraph, Conservative, said today.

"If, as the Japanese allege, the embankments of the Yellow River have been broken by the Chinese without regard to the consequences for their own people, they have taken a decision that certainly does not suggest any early termination of Chinese resistance and will provide an interval wherein that resistance may be strengthened," the newspaper said.

TOKIO (AP)—Japan notified neutral powers Monday the China war zone probably would be considerably expanded and warned them to take precautionary measures in a vast area extending some 700 miles inland from China's coasts.

Gen. Kazushige Ugaki, Foreign Minister, conveyed the warning in a circular statement to all foreign embassies and legations in Tokio which said:

"Japan sincerely desires to avoid possible damage to the lives and property of foreign nationals and advises taking adequate measures along the following lines:

"First, foreign nationals and foreign vessels should evacuate the area south of the Yellow River and east of a line linking Sian, Ichang and Hengyang."

"Second, aerial and landmarks should be placed on foreign property in the aforesaid area and immediate information should be given the Japanese authorities concerning such property."

MAY SEIZE HAINAN

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—Threats to seize the south China island of Hainan, a few miles off the French Indo-China coast, were reiterated by the Japanese Foreign Office Monday. They were coupled with renewed charges of French military aid to China.

Quoting "reliable sources," newspapers charged that together with 60 Soviet planes, 30 French planes, mostly high speed bombers, had arrived at Hankow early in June. It also was asserted a number of French pilots who had served with the republican forces in Spain have arrived at Yunnanfu, near the Indo-China border and are standing by for action there.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office declared Japanese occupation of Hainan Island would occur if and when the Japanese navy deemed it strategically necessary. The Foreign Office declared such occupation could not be regarded as a violation of the Franco-Japanese treaty of 1907, inasmuch as Japan has no intention of making it permanent.

The Foreign Office declared Chinese military establishments on Hainan Island were a menace to Japanese warships operating off south China.

YANGTZE BATTLE

SHANGHAI (AP)—Striking both land and air, the Japanese Monday sought to blast out the barricade of rock-laden boats at Matowchen which is blocking their drive up the Yangtze River to Hankow.

While Japanese planes continued to bombard the boom, an overland column forded the swollen Tsien River and marched into Hotow, 30 miles northwest of Matowchen, threatening a rear attack against Chinese forces guarding the barrier.

wrapped wet cloths across their eyes and withstood the attack for 20 minutes, all the time singing their "sitdown" theme song, "Hold the Fort." Then they left peacefully without doing any damage.

The 300 men from the post office smashed 26 windows in the David Spencer Limited department store on the Cordova Street side. Other buildings suffered as they ran.

At Woodward's Stores Limited, another department store, one group went along Cordova and another along Hastings Street, breaking out everything as they passed and combining against the Abbott Street side of the building. Clothing models and other articles were torn from the windows and used in the demolition. Eighty windows were broken in the Woodward store. Altogether 39 establishments suffered.

STARTED AT 4 A.M.

Shortly after 4 a.m. virtually the entire city police force piled into squad cars and sped to the two buildings. Simultaneously G. H. Clarke, district director of postal services, and Arthur S. Grigsby, secretary of the Art Gallery board of trustees, requested the men to leave the building within 20 minutes.

At the expiration of the 20 minutes at the post office Clarke told the men their refusal to leave had created an unlawful assembly and gave them another 10 minutes.

Then a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer told them if they did not leave tear gas would be used. After a further 20 minutes four tear gas bombs were thrown in by R.C.M.P. officers. The jobless, heads wrapped in water-soaked cloths, stood the fumes for five minutes and then started to break out the windows. Several more gas bombs were thrown and when the men still failed to leave a squad of R.C.M.P. quartered in the building moved into the lobby and cleared the building with riot sticks.

In the human melee, rolled bundles of bedding came flying through the broken windows, and finally the men themselves through the doors where city police awaited. Men and police struggled about the building before the jobless started their glass-breaking flight along Cordova and Hastings Streets.

AT ART GALLERY

Meantime at the Art Gallery similar warnings had been given. Chief of Police W. W. Foster telling the men they were in unlawful occupation of a public building. After a second warning city police tossed in tear gas bombs. The men stood it for nearly 20 minutes before they left without damaging the building.

As the Gallery men paraded along Georgia Street the management of the Hotel Georgia locked the lobby, which had been occupied at the same time as the other buildings May 20, but was vacated when the city paid the men $500 as temporary relief.

Altogether about 1,200 took part in the original occupations, but it was estimated about 500 remained until the evictions yesterday.

When they first entered the buildings the unemployed declared their quarrel was chiefly with the Dominion Government and asked city and provincial authorities to back them in pressing Ottawa for a works program.

8,000 AT MEETING

The men met at Powell Street grounds, near the police station, about nine hours after the police had driven them from the two downtown buildings yesterday.

At the meeting their spokesman reaffirmed intention of the Relief Project Workers' Union, to which most of the men belong, to send a delegation of 100 to Victoria to "camp on the doorstep of the provincial government until we get action" on demands for a relief works program.

After the meeting, which lasted almost two hours and was attended by a total of 8,000 persons—unemployed and their sympathizers, the jobless marched to the police station, where more than a score of their fellows were being held for investigation after the disturbances earlier in the day.

Almost immediately an unidentified woman shouted at a policeman in a prowler car parked outside the building. The constable took hold of her, but had to let her go when a group of men started moving toward him.

Then someone broke the glass in one half of the double door into the main rotunda. The other was broken almost immediately. Harold Winch, C.C.F. member of the Legislature for Vancouver East, jumped to the top of one of the automobiles. The crowd quieted.

About 15 city policemen drew

DESCRIBED AS BRUTAL

"We haven't been able to get organized yet and issue a public statement, but I might say that police action outside the post office was brutal," said Mr. Winch.

He and R. W. Campbell, publicity director of the Relief Workers' Union, declared they intended to carry out their plan of sending 100 men to Victoria to "sit on the steps" of the British Columbia Government until a works program was announced.

"We may send 200 men now," Campbell said. "The boys are still highly organized and more determined than ever and their morale is good."

Of the eviction and the damage in smashed windows he declared "the events were precipitated by the action of the police."

"Surely not one of you would question which side I'm on," Mr. Winch told the crowd. "I've never betrayed anyone yet and I'm not starting now."

"A small thing can start a riot, no matter which side makes that move. We're all interested in the boys inside (the arrested unemployed). I'll go in and see them and bring you a message. Go back to the Powell Street grounds."

A small part of the crowd of 800 persons moved away. The rest stayed.

FIFTEEN FLED

After the men had been cleared from the two buildings, city police raided headquarters of the Relief Project Workers' Union. About 15 men had straggled back to headquarters at the time and they fled through the rear entrance as police fired tear gas in from the front.

A street battle of short duration broke out in the lane behind the union office when some of the retreating men threw missiles at mounted officers. Before the midnight mob dispersed missiles were hurled through two newly-installed plate-glass windows at Woodward's Stores Ltd., smashed once after the early morning eviction.

The new works, as announced, are as follows:

Provincial government roads, $1,500,000.

New Pacific Highway, $300,000.

Big Bend Highway, $600,000.

Yahik-Kootenay Park roads, $200,000.

Mining trails, $360,000.

Spanish banks, $40,000.

Stanley Park works, $10,000.

Relief officials who made the survey said that while the jobs on the government works were not specifically provided for single men, or for any other group of men, the projects would absorb some 5,000 from the labor market, thus making it easier for others to get private work.

ment for new trade treaty, will come to Canada for the same purpose, it was announced here last night. It is expected late in July.

The delegation will seek a basis with the Canadian Government for an extension of the existing trade treaty dating back to the Ottawa Imperial Conference of 1932. Trade Minister W. D. Euler went to Australia last year and tentative arrangement was made to continue the treaty until a more permanent agreement could be reached.

It was been reported from London a triangular treaty involving Great Britain, Australia and the United States may be attempted.

TOKIO (AP)—Domel (Japanese news agency) reported Monday 15 persons had died and 11 were critically ill of food poisoning in the town of Fukuoka. It said police had discovered poison in rice cakes the victims ate yesterday at a racetrack.

Rescue Contest Is Big Success

Nearly 500 Participated in Mines Competition at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—One of the most successful first aid and mine rescue contests ever held by the Vancouver Island and Coast District Branch of the British Columbia Mines Safety Association was held here Saturday with 97 teams, representing 470 contestants, participating.

The contests started in the morning at 8, continuing throughout the day and closed with the presentation of prizes by Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines, in the evening.

In a brief congratulatory address Mr. Asselstine announced the government's support of these contests and announced that from now on the government would pay, or assist in the payment of winners at the day's contests who wished to take part in other contests throughout the province.

James Dickson, chief inspector of mines; Judge James Westfield, Seattle, of the United States Bureau of Mines; James Strang, Victoria, mine inspector; Charles Graham, Prince Rupert, mine inspector; T. Henderson, Nanaimo; J. H. Sandison, Seattle, and J. Sutherland, Nanaimo, were the judges of the mine rescue competitions, while J. S. Brown, Cumberland, and Richard Nicol, Nanaimo, assisted with the machines.

The chief judge for the first aid tests were Dr. A. H. Menzies, Nanaimo, assisted by Dr. C. C. Browne, Dr. G. A. B. Hall, Dr. Alan Hall, Dr. L. Giovando and Dr. L. Williams, Nanaimo; Dr. G. K. McNaughton, Cumberland; Dr. L. Briggs, Courtenay; Dr. T. W. A. Gray, Victoria; Dr. J. H. Blair, Workmen's Compensation Board, Vancouver; A. T. Morrison, Vancouver; A. J. Dallain, Victoria; W. E. Edgeworth, Bralorne; L. W. Harton and P. Kemp, Nanaimo.

The list of prizewinners follows: Vancouver Island Mine Safety Association for Draeger rescue competition; 1, Cumberland No. 3 team, captain, J. G. Weir, 98.33 points; 2, No. 1 team, Nanaimo, captain, C. Mills, 95; 3, No. 2 team, Cumberland, captain, J. Eccleson, 87.4; 4, No. 1 team, Cumberland, captain, T. Brown, 86.66; 5, Reserve Mine, Nanaimo, captain, D. Bradford, 85; 6, Northfield, captain, J. Good, 83.33.

Beware Kidney Poisons if Tired, Nervous, Aching

Are you Run Down, Nervous or suffer Aching Joints? Do you Get Up Nights, or suffer from Burning Passages, Frequent Headaches, Leg Pains, Backache, Circles Under Eyes, Loss of Appetite and Energy? If so, the true cause often may be Poisons developed in the body during colds, or by bad teeth or tonsils that needs removing. These Poisons may attack the delicate membranes of your Kidneys or Bladder and often cause much trouble. Ordinary medicines can't help much because they don't fight the Poisons. The doctor's formula, Cystex, now stocked by all drug stores, starts to act in 2 hours, must prove entirely satisfactory and, as quickly, the medicine you need or money back. Ask your druggist for Cystex (Bristol) today. The money-back guarantee provides you with 30c—75c—$1.50.

Montana Train Crash Kills 40 CARS PLUNGE INTO STREAM

MILES CITY, Mont. (CP)—At least 40 persons died when the westbound Milwaukee Railroad's crack train Olympian plunged through a flood-weakened trestle spanning Custer Creek, 26 miles east of here, early Sunday morning. Sixty-five were injured.

With seventeen bodies removed, railroad officials today announced a still-submerged tourist sleeper contained another 17 bodies.

Survivors told of seeing as many as five or six bodies swept into the flood waters of Custer Creek, into which the train plunged yesterday.

A midnight "flash flood" had carried away the 180-foot trestle spanning Custer Creek, 26 miles east of Miles City. Seven cars of the 12-car train followed the locomotive into 20 feet of rushing water.

Only a few minutes earlier a track walker had reported the creek almost dry.

The tragedy was the worst in United States railroading in recent years, and was the first on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul in 20 years in which a paying passenger met death.

BODIES SEEN
 Witnesses said they could see the bodies of passengers still seated in the submerged sleeper, the forms made indistinct by the muddy water that filled the car. The sleeper's lights burned eerily through most of last night.

At Glendive, 80 miles northeast of Miles City, the sheriff's office said a woman's body had been taken from the Yellowstone River into which Custer Creek flows.

Of the 65 injured taken into Miles City in a hospital train yesterday, 30 remained in the hospital today, two of them critically injured. One unidentified man's back was broken.

At the hospital and at the Miles City morgue, where relatives came to claim their dead, stories of tragedy and of heroism were told by the survivors.

Ten-year-old Anne Ladas whose mother was dead and whose father was missing, related how she tried desperately to keep her mother's head above the swirling water.

When the mother, Mrs. Thomas Ladas, fainted from shock, the small girl grabbed her hair and held her head above water for several minutes.

Anne's brother, nine-year-old George, suffered a fracture of one arm. Unable to comprehend the tragedy, he kept crying, "I want my mama and daddy."

"But you haven't any mama and daddy any more," the boy's sister tried bravely to explain. The family was en route home to Bellingham, Wash., from a visit to Greece.

PORTER PRAISED
 A negro porter on the train, Lew Williams, was credited by survivors with possibly saving several lives by calmly directing passengers out of his car.

One of the cars teetered on the creek bank several minutes before it slid into the water with the others.

Seven Milwaukee Railroad employees, who knew Custer Creek as a ravine that usually carried no more than "a bucket of water," were riding the Olympian as passengers. They joined regular trainmen in helping out the survivors, and two of them telephoned first news of the tragedy to Miles City.

William Shearer, veteran Milwaukee engineer, said the railroad men were "chewing the fat" in the first day coach when the crash occurred.

"I thought we were just on the ground at first," Shearer said. "Then I realized we were in water and I said, 'Boys, we're in the old Yellowstone!'"

"It was a few minutes before I found it was Custer Creek."

"Well, we all crawled out of our coach. It was hard to see much. The mail, express and baggage cars, which were between us and the locomotive, were piled up every way."

CRAWLED ON WRECKAGE
 "We crawled along the pile like monkeys, wondering how anyone could be alive."

"We all crawled back over the wreckage again—I knew the boys in the engine must be dead. We saw a woman jump out of a window she had smashed. She floated down against the pile of wreckage and I think she must have drowned. Her husband yelled for us to help her, but it was no use."

Shearer said Frank Merrifield, engineer of the train, was "one of the best men who ever handled a locomotive."

Heavy silt flowing into the submerged tourist sleeper, in which 17 persons had booked space, forced Milwaukee officials to abandon attempts to raise it with cranes. They said they feared the bottom of the water-logged sleeper might drop out, sending the bodies down stream.

RAPID RISE
 While a train walker had reported the creek almost dry just a few minutes before the train approached it, the flood water was running almost at track level when the racing locomotive pitched into the stream. Seven of the 12 cars behind it piled up in a jackstraw heap of rent steel.

Milwaukee officials said the train carried at least 155 passengers and a crew of 10.

Survivors and rescue workers agreed that many more lives might have been lost had not the more cool-headed passengers and crew members skillfully aided their fellows out of the water-filling cars.

Graphically relating how passengers escaped from his car, E. Woltz, a Chicago businessman, declared "everyone was quite calm; there was no hysteria at all."

"One end of the car next to us was in water and we shouted to the people in that car that it was not sinking and to stay there as they'd be safe," Woltz said.

ENGINE JUMPED
 The locomotive leaped the bridge gap with such speed that it landed on the west bank of the creek, carrying Engineer Merrifield and Fireman H. E. McCoy with it.

Ellis Lund and Thomas Thoreson of Dawson, Minn., together helped 15 to 20 persons from one of the cars.

"It was like a dream. I hardly know how I got out," Lund said later. He and Thoreson were in the smoking car, one end of which was crushed between two coaches in the creek bed.

"The first I knew was as if we were going through air," Thoreson related.

"Then there was a terrible bump. I didn't know what happened. The water started pouring in. People in the other part of the car screamed and fought to get out."

DIFFICULTY OF ACCESS
 H. R. Kester, advertising manager of the Miles City, Mont., Star, said the cloudburst that swept away the steel and concrete bridge was of "unprecedented proportions."

Kester went to the scene by airplane as soon as he heard the first report of the tragedy early yesterday.

"Viewed from the air it was as though some great force had set about to scramble effectively the train and create every possible hazard for its load of humanity, and at the same time select a spot where aid was almost entirely impossible," Kester said.

The only means of access to the stricken train was by way of the railroad tracks from Miles City or by country road over a circuitous route through the foothills and across flooded upland coulees to the water-sogged meadows at the mouth of Custer Creek.

Because of the relatively flat straightaway of the tracks east of here, it was believed the train was traveling full steam ahead when it struck the gap left by the washed-out bridge.

Among the known dead, the following names were included in a list issued by the Milwaukee line:

Mrs. Josephine Frelich, Lemmon, S.D., formerly of Miles City; Mrs. Leroy Bailey and daughters, Juanita, six, and Joyce, three, Hettinger, N.D.; Mrs. Melton Lehr, Bowman, N.D.; Missing: A daughter of Mrs. Melton Lehr, Bowman, N.D.; Frank Merrifield, engineer, Miles City; H. E. McCoy, fireman, Miles City; Milton Norberg, railway mail clerk, Aberdeen, S.D.

Air-conditioned trains, the Olympians are the pride of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul line.

Victorian's Sister In Train Wreck
 Capt. T. H. Brown of 1115 Catherine Street, received word this morning that his sister, Miss Lillian Brown of Boston, Mass., who was a passenger on the train which met disaster at Custer Creek, Montana, Sunday morning, was among the fortunate survivors who escaped injury.

Miss Brown has been for 25 years a social worker in Boston, Mass., and was on her way to Seattle to attend the forthcoming conference there of social workers.

Capt. Brown went over to Seattle this afternoon to meet his sister, who will arrive in the Sound City this evening.

New Social Credit Group In Ontario

ST. THOMAS Ont. (CP)—A 45-year-old Toronto barrister, Major J. C. MacCorkindale, is the new leader of the Social Credit Association of Ontario.

He was elected head of the recently-formed organization at its first annual congress here Saturday.

A graduate of the Osgoode Hall law school, Toronto, he saw service overseas with the Royal Field Artillery. He has long been a student of monetary systems and was active in the last Dominion election campaign on behalf of Hon. H. H. Stevens' Reconstruction Party. He is married and has one daughter.

Mr. MacCorkindale was elected to the presidency of the association by 24 votes to 13 over Lloyd Jaeger, Toronto railway employee who had acted as provisional president. In addition to the 37 registered delegates from Ontario, the congress was attended by representatives of the Quebec association and a delegation from the United States.

Charles Keeping, St. Thomas, organizer of the Ontario party, was chosen first vice-president; Lloyd Jaeger, second vice-president; and A. Denöme of Ottawa, third vice-president. Mrs. Meulah Devlin Grace, Ottawa, was runner-up in the voting.

POST FOR ABERHART
 Premier Aberhart of Alberta was named honorary president and John H. Blackmore, party leader in the House of Commons, honorary vice-president. Peterborough won out over Ottawa and

A psychologist says it is no wonder school children write "boners," since words in English have so many definitions: for example, game has 15 meanings, grain has 30, fall has 29, and account has 34.

WINDSOR AS SITE FOR NEXT YEAR'S CONGRESS
 The Ontario association went on record as approving of the organization of a Social Credit association of eastern Canada that is already under way. This would put Social Credit on a Dominion-wide basis, as organization of the Western Canada Social Credit Association was recently completed.

The delegates voted to retain the present name of the Ontario body instead of calling it the Social Credit and Money Reform Party of Canada as proposed by Mr. MacCorkindale to appeal to persons interested in monetary reform. It was felt that Social Credit was wide enough to take in such groups and should maintain its single identity.

A constitution clause deleted by the convention would have given members the right to circulate a petition for recall of any elective officer or parliamentary member. A new election would have been demanded if the petition were signed by 10 per cent of the membership.

WOMEN TO AID
 Provision was made for women's and junior organizations.

During the congress it was stressed the task ahead of Social Credit in Ontario was one of education, rather than immediate political action. Groups are being formed throughout the province to study the theories laid down by Major Douglas, the British founder, and on which Premier Aberhart of Alberta bases his policies.

SAYS CANADIANS SHOULD BE UNITED
 OTTAWA (CP)—Rights and privileges of Canadians "are being destroyed by a spirit of narrow provincialism, and by the ascendancy of selfish sectionalism," Hon. J. Earl Lawson, Conservative member of Parliament for South York, Ont., said yesterday in an address broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in connection with the celebration of Magna Charta week.

"Canada's crying need today is for unity, for Roman Catholic and Protestant, French and English, farmer, labor and capital—for all men who believe in the fundamental principles of Magna Charta—to join hands in a common effort for the maintenance of a united and democratic federation of Canada."

FIRE DESTROYS NELSON HOTEL

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—The Strathcona Hotel, operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway many years ago when the Kettle Valley line was built, was destroyed by fire early Sunday. Sixty persons, in the building escaped safely.

Two elderly women and children living on the top floor of the two-story structure were helped out of the building by others in upper rooms.

Guests and permanent residents fled so quickly they lost even personal effects in the blaze, which broke out in an

—and here's the ANSWER!

Increasingly difficult for the average man today is the problem of saving money. Many a man with a family to provide for on a salary that seems scarcely adequate to meet present needs alone, knows well that his old age must be provided for too, and wonders how.

Even regular savings over a long term of years will not, he figures, produce sufficient income to bring him a moderate livelihood in later life. $30,000, for example, at 3% produces only $900 a year. $40,000 produces only $25 a week. Yet how can he hope to save anything like these large sums?

A happy answer to this worrisome dilemma is a policy in The Imperial Life. Let an Imperial Life representative explain to you how moderate-sized deposits placed with this company will produce for you in later life an income far in excess of the interest such sums could earn for you if saved and invested in the ordinary way.

In addition, with the Imperial Life Plan, you have the advantage that your family is protected from the day you make your first deposit. And you have the comforting assurance that in this investment your capital is absolutely safe, always.

Stop worrying about finances. When you have Imperial Life protection you can spend the balance of your income with a carefree mind.

"FINANCIAL SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE", by Paul Speicher, an international authority, is an interesting book which should be read by everyone who plans to provide financial security for himself and family. Your local Imperial Life representative will make a copy available to you without cost.

For Stability In Eire

ALTHOUGH ABOUT A SCORE OF RIDINGS still have to report their final count, it is clear, as this is written, that Prime Minister de Valera will have a fairly comfortable working majority over all other parties in the next Chamber of Deputies (Dail Eireann) of Eire. Should the government party win half of the seats in which the ballot tabulation is incomplete there is every prospect that its plurality will be something like 15, perhaps more, as the swing has been definitely to the Fianna Fail.

One of the surprising developments of last Friday's general election was the comparatively poor showing made by the Labor candidates. At dissolution the party was represented by 13 deputies; on the count-to-date only five are assured of a seat in the next Dail. Of the 138 members who compose the Legislature it is hardly likely that the Fine Gael, Opposition Leader Cosgrave's adherents, will number more than a third, and possibly not that. It is to be noted, incidentally, that Mr. de Valera and all his ministerial colleagues were endorsed.

The government party, of course, had practically everything in its favor in the campaign which preceded this election test. The equal division of political strength in the last Dail was bound to bring a government defeat sooner or later; that it should come in less than 12 months after the appeal of last July, therefore, caused no surprise. Mr. de Valera was able at the outset to tell the people that it was necessary to give him or the Leader of the Opposition a sufficiently definite mandate to carry on their business.

The government chief had most of the best cards in the political pack. This time last year he was in the throes of a general election entirely different in all its aspects from that which he has just successfully concluded. On that occasion he made all the domestic political capital he could out of the old wrongs and misunderstandings which had continued through the ages to foment discord between Dublin and Downing Street. He had drawn up a new constitution for the Irish Free State and asked the electors to give him their opinion of it through their ballots. It was approved by a substantial majority and some of its provisions were applied in practice with little delay. It represented another—and by no means inconsiderable—step toward complete separation, politically, of southern Ireland from Britain.

In the main, however, that contest furnished Mr. de Valera with practically no political comfort except that he was able to extract from office by stalemate. But he gained in political wisdom, if in nothing else, for he soon began a series of negotiations with Great Britain which culminated in an amicable settlement with the British Government of several of the most irritating questions—principally economic—which had cost the people of the Irish Free State in the last six years much more than they like to count. In other words, the doctrinaire republican now seems fully alive to the benefits that will flow to his country from continued membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations—which is based on common sense, mutual trust, and businesslike co-operation.

A True King

THE OTHER DAY THE PEOPLE OF Sweden presented to King Gustav a cheque for 5,000,000 kroner ($1,250,000) as a mark of their profound admiration for his manifold human qualities and his benign and kingly bearing. They selected the eightieth anniversary of his birth as a fitting occasion for this interesting ceremonial. This very substantial sum of money, however, was not destined for the royal treasury. It is to go to swell the fund which the nation is collecting to fight infantile paralysis.

It is small wonder that tears came into the eyes of the world's oldest reigning monarch as he contemplated the fine spirit of a people whose minds are tuned to the needs of humanity.

The Sweden which gave the great Swedenborg to the world has been comparatively free from the hurly-burly of her continental neighbors. Her throne has been secure because its occupant, for the last thirty years, has been a man of modest and simple character, who has avoided needless display.

King Gustav V always has been capable of bearing himself with the dignity required by his position. He has, indeed, been—and still is—a true king in an epoch which is full of challenge to democracy?

The Jew Today

WHEN HE WAS SPEAKING AT MANCHESTER the other day, Lord Rothschild said he was sometimes surprised that the world as a whole did not register more protest at the treatment being meted out to the Jews in Germany and Austria.

There is ample cause for surprise. As Lord Rothschild pointed out, "one man, and one man only—the Pope—has persistently and remorselessly condemned what has been going on in Germany and Austria." His Holiness absented himself from Vatican City while thousands of swastikas fluttered

"Welcome" to Reichsfuehrer Hitler last month. That required courage.

Not a few in Britain—not excepting one or two members of the British cabinet—have strong leanings toward the "isms" of Germany and Italy. Not far from the top of Hitler's new program is a revival of "suppression" of the Jews. The Rothschilds themselves are not having a pleasant time.

Secretary of State for War Hore-Belisha is a Jew. Former Viceroy of India Viscount Reading is a Jew. Sir Herbert Samuel is a Jew. One may wonder, then, how the pro-Fascist element in the Chamberlain ministry feels about the race which their friends in Berlin use as targets for every sort of beastliness.

Tides of the Brain

RESEARCHERS HAVE CARRIED INVESTIGATIONS into electrical impulses of the brain to the point where it may soon be possible to chart the electrical tides of the brain with almost the exactitude with which the strength of the heart is now measured by the electrocardiograph. At the medical meetings at San Francisco last week, Dr. Cohn and Dr. Langestrass reported they had found that when patients were being subjected to insulin shock treatment a super-wave of electricity pulsed through their brain. Changes in the pattern of the wave could be effected by injections of glucose.

Dr. Hallowell Davis and Mrs. Pauline Davis of the Harvard Medical School presented a paper giving the results of long continued research, showing that abnormal patterns of electrical impulses found in epileptics and schizophrenics could be repeated in normal persons by lowering the oxygen supply and by other physiological changes. Mrs. Davis located a cerebral tumor during the process of making a recording of electrical brain waves.

There is little doubt, in view of recent research results, that thought itself is the result of electrical energy and can be translated in those terms, although the precise nature of the translation lies some distance ahead. The important thing now is that we are on the verge of discoveries which will lead to far more effective co-operation between physiologists, psychologists and psychiatrists in the treatment of mental diseases. This as a result of recognition of the fact that many of them are based on changes in the chemistry of the body, which produce changes in the electrical tides of the brain.

Fashions and Fads of 1918

IN THE "TWENTY YEARS AGO" CORNER of a Mainland newspaper the following paragraph appeared under the date of June 14, 1918: "The provincial W.C.T.U., in convention at Victoria, passed a resolution condemning short skirts and low-necked dresses."

The trouble with a resolution of this kind is that, to have any permanence of applicability, it would have to have so many elastic provisions that it would require a whole-time secretary to make the necessary annual or semi-annual adjustments.

Then again, in the summer of 1918, to make matters worse, the young bloods of both sexes had just been launched on an apprenticeship in the new form of drinking. Prohibition was nine months old when the quoted resolution was passed by the W.C.T.U.

Notes

"If another war comes, we'll see the end of civilization." Which end?

Income tax people are reported closing in on the elder Douglas Fairbanks. In his agile youth, Doug could have hung from an upper bracket and defied the world.

SHALL CIVILIZATION DESTROY ITSELF WITH MODERN WAR?

Anne O'Hare McCormick, New York Times. The watching world blows hot and cold as noncombatants are bombed to bits on two hemispheres. The heart burns with an indignation that goes deeper even than pity for the victims, for humanity itself is outraged by a form of warfare that blasts human flesh as carelessly as sticks and stones. To argue that any so-called military objective—a railway line or a storage tank—justifies shelling cities crowded with helpless people is a kind of final insult to life and the human spirit. The very sense of civilization dissolves as men destroy other men to no purpose, with the insensate callousness of forces of nature.

But if the heart burns with indignation, the mind is chilled with dread at this preview of what will happen to any city in the wars of tomorrow. Whether they are declared or undeclared, provoked or unprovoked, civil or international, makes no difference in the pattern of future wars.

What sort of people would emerge from the reign of terror? Compared to the effect of modern war on whole populations, regimented from within and bombarded from without, as they will be, military victory and defeat are almost equally unimportant.

This is obvious even to people who seek escape from thinking—and who can blame them? It was so obvious after the World War that governments, although they learn much more slowly than human beings, were ready to sign a covenant to end war forever. Today it is still more obvious that there are no limits to modern conflict. In the 1918-19 edition of Armageddon there were zones of devastation. There were unscarred continents and scores of neutral nations. Yet even that more or less localized struggle upset the universe to settle nothing.

In the next war there will be no neutrals; it is perfectly clear already that if they don't fight one another they will fight themselves. There will be no safety zones. The devastated areas will not be confined to the field of military operations. It will be a contest not of armies but of populations.

CHEER DEPARTMENT

IF YOU LIVED close to nature, as we do here, you would have noticed something by this time. You would have noticed a certain subtle change in the vegetation, a look of crispness replacing the soft succulence of spring, a tired look in the fields, where the grass is turning brown. And you would have known, without referring to the calendar, that something was happening, some change.

A change is happening. The year is approaching its peak. In a day or two, or perhaps by the time this is printed, the peak will be passed and the year will be on the down grade, slipping gradually into old age. The days will get shorter, the nights longer, and almost before you can turn around, long before you can wear out your summer hat, it will be autumn and then Christmas.

I just thought I'd cheer you up a little in these distressing times.

YELLOW RIVER

THE FLOOD of the Yellow River in China affords an interesting test of the western world's kindly, Christian feelings. The Yellow River is flooding and they say it may wipe out a million Chinese. Probably thousands of them are drowning there now in their hovels, children in their mothers' arms, in a disaster such as we have never known in North America since the beginning.

But if you will observe the newspapers of the last few days you will find that the public here is more interested in the government's current road program, in the proposed amalgamation of the Canadian railways, in the drowning of three white girls up the coast. The news editors of newspapers know what the public is interested in. That is their business. The public can't get worked up about the drowning of a million Chinese, though if a thousand white people were in distress public aid would come quickly.

Madam Chiang Kai Shek, wife of the generalissimo, is writing a series of blazing articles for the North American newspapers, trying to rouse up opinion against Japan and in favor of China. She ought to know by now that Christian North America doesn't care a hoot for the Chinese, or for anybody else but itself. All America wants to know is how much the Chinese can buy from it, and if the Yellow River should reduce this market it would be highly regrettable.

CURIOUS PARADOX

AMERICA, BY THE WAY, appears to be pretty good at violent death itself. Last year, according to figures just issued, about 110,000 people were killed by accident in the United States, 39,000 of them in automobiles. This means that every five minutes, day and night the year around, someone was killed in an accident. Every 15 minutes someone died in an automobile crash, mostly due to carelessness and speed.

At the same time American scientists were laboring to find cures for fatal diseases. Surgeons were toiling to save a single life, which, perhaps, would be better extinguished. The whole country was organized to provide hospital accommodation and operating rooms for everyone. Millionaires endowed research laboratories in which thousands of the brightest young men in the land were spending their lives in the pursuit of some obscure germ. And as the surgeon took off his rubber gloves he could figure that in the hour which he used to prolong some aged man's life for a few years more, 20 people had been killed in accidents, most of them unnecessarily. Four had died in automobile crashes because they wanted speed and got it.

If the Chinese look at their Yellow River and think of the blind futility of things in general, they ought to contemplate civilized America and cheer up.

When you were young, you scarcely noticed good and bad weather. For that matter, you scarcely noticed good and bad anything.

FORGIVENESS

His heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong.—Emerson.

Jesus' prayer, "Forgive us our debts," specified also the terms of forgiveness. When forgiving the adulterous woman he said, "Go, and sin no more."—Mary Baker Eddy.

Life that ever needs forgiveness has for its first duty to forgive.—Butler.

Never does the human soul appear so strong and whole as when it forgives revenge and dares to forgive an injury.—E. H. Chapin.

Who from crime would pardoned be, In mercy should set others free.—Shakespeare.

UNINTENTIONALLY FUNNY

For years type-errors have been the subject of merry comment. P. P. A. remarks. When they are good, they are as excellent as Longfellow's celebrated little girl. But most of them are old stuff. Doubtless one account of the wedding said, "George Washington's bride was the window Custer." The following includes the commonest errors, many of which still recur, and all of which are sent in as having been just printed:

The bridge was marred at the home of her grandfather, a battle-scarred veteran. Many fiends of the family were present, the large bay widow being heaped with summer followers. Many telegrams were received wishing the happy couple a long martial life.

Ottawa No Longer Calls National Tune

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA. CLOSE FOLLOWERS of the recent trend in national affairs have been struck by the ever-increasing extent to which Parliament Hill is being compelled to live in the shadows cast upon it from afar by extraneous, powerful personalities. The figures released periodically from the Treasury constitute the evidence that the federal authorities at least retain the doubtful privilege of paying the national piper. But in all the issues that crowd the governmental stage there is little to suggest that Ottawa is calling the national tune.

The last 10 days afford a striking illustration of the situation which has developed. One of the major problems which has descended upon the statesmen of the Mackenzie King ministry has been whether or not they should disallow certain outrageous legislation passed lately by the Alberta Legislature. That knotty question—which, incidentally, has not been solved at the moment of writing—simply means that Premier "Bible Bill" Aberhart has projected his amazing, demagogic personality into the realm of federal affairs. He is as welcome as the proverbial shower at a picnic—but so far Ottawa has not discovered anything that it can do about it.

THEN, MORE RECENTLY, the government has been taken for a gentle ride through purgatory over its attitude toward the so-called Quebec padlock law. What is that measure but the disembodied presence of one Premier Maurice Duplessis, who has been setting the tobacco fields or whatever is the equivalent of the heather in Quebec province on fire by his vigorous tactics of the last two years? What is Premier Maurice Duplessis to Liberals and Conservatives alike on Parliament Hill but a headache by day and a dose of insomnia by night? Echo answers, what?

LAST BUT NOT LEAST, there is the new St. Lawrence proposal submitted to Washington. That, it might reasonably be expected, would be one issue in regard to which the federal authorities would act in their own right in the name of the Dominion. Such, however, is not the case. The towering figure who looms above all others, so far as Canada is concerned, in the question of the attitude which the Dominion shall take upon the Rooseveltian scheme, is not anyone in the federal picture, but Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier of Ontario. By virtue of the uncompromising stand which he has taken on behalf of provincial rights, largely unresisted by the Dominion authorities, the Ontario Liberal chief holds a power of veto over the St. Lawrence project which could hardly be more effective if he were President of the United States and Prime Minister of Canada rolled into one.

IT IS RATHER disconcerting for a troupe of talented federal performers like the present Dominion Cabinet to be compelled always to juggle the balls hurled at them from outsiders, instead of being allowed to stage their own act. The Mackenzie King ministers, however, are proving themselves reasonably adept at meeting the situation thrust upon them. The news from Saskatchewan suggests that while their policy toward the Aberhart invasion there has not been challenging, it is destined to prove successful.

Similarly, in Quebec the failure to meet the challenge of the padlock law of Premier Duplessis is generally recognized as an outstanding instance of that discretion which is the better part of valor. For the padlock law, while it may be anathema to traditional Liberalism, apparently represents the prevailing temper of French Canadian thought. While refusing to stir up Quebec antagonism by arbitrary action upon the measure, the federal ministry is considered to have mended a number of fences in French-speaking Canada by the Prime Minister's speech on foreign affairs.

PREMIER HEPBURN, for his part, remains the most stubborn problem facing the ministry. He is all the more difficult to handle because, nominally he is at the same political straits as the federal government. M.P.'s from Ontario are torn continually between their duty to Mr. King and their fear of the redoubtable "Mitch."

In the present instance of the St. Lawrence proposals the fear of the federal government is that Mr. Hepburn holds the whip hand to a greater extent than has been disclosed on the surface. The suspicion is that the Washington authorities intend to tie-up, actually if not formally, the St. Lawrence deal as the quid pro quo which they must have for the trade pact that the federal ministry has been waiting so patiently and striving so strenuously to negotiate.

If this is the case it is conceded that the outlook for the new Reciprocity Treaty is doubtful at best. The suggestion is already around the parliamentary corridors that the ministry may throw up its hands for the present prorogue Parliament at the close of the present month, and assemble again in the fall for another attempt.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "The storm did a sight of damage."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "dimension"?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Hospitality, hospitality, hosery.
4. What does the word "intuitively" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with men that means "containing falsehood"?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "The storm did much damage."
2. Pronounce first i as in it unstressed, not die.
3. Hosery.
4. Perceiving by instinctive knowledge. "In all ordinary cases we see intuitively at first view, what is our duty."—Bishop Butler.

PICKING UP STRANGERS

From Peterboro Examiner

Hitch hikers are becoming fewer in number because fewer drivers are now willing to take a chance on picking up people whom they do not know. Nor is the reason hard to find.

One of the chief reasons is contained in a story from Paris. G. W. Black of that town stopped along the highway and took on a young fellow who wanted a ride. He sat in the front seat with the driver and after a short time produced a sawed-off weapon from beneath his overcoat and ordered the driver to turn into a side road.

Mr. Black had no intention of doing that, so they fought it out in the car and the hitch hiker was put out. On reaching Paris the driver notified police and they found and arrested the young fellow with the gun.

Parallel Thoughts

Take good heed therefore unto yourselves, that ye love the Lord your God.—Joshua 23:11.

Stars Studied In Canada 100 Years

Dr. W. E. Harper to Tell of History at Important Scientific Meeting

Astronomers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory will take part in the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Ottawa during the week of June 27. It is the fifth time the association will have met in Canada, previous meetings being at Montreal in 1857 and 1882 and at Toronto in 1899 and 1921. An attendance of 1,000 members and their friends is expected, including many prominent scientists.

Of much interest this year is the conference organized by the section on social and economic sciences to discuss the general subject "Science and the Future."

There is a growing feeling that scientists whose discoveries are sometimes credited with increasing unemployment should offer such help as they can towards its solution. Among others, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, a Nobel prize winner, will take part in this conference.

The observatory staff has prepared a number of papers which will be presented by the director, Dr. W. E. Harper, in Section D devoted to astronomy. Besides these Dr. Harper has been invited to give a special paper on "The History of Astronomy in Canada" which will start off a symposium on the advance of science in Canada. Other invited papers for this symposium will relate to mathematics, physics, chemistry, medicine, etc. The paper on astronomy is timely in that it is just 100 years ago that the British Admiralty took steps to establish an observatory in Upper Canada.

Apart from the historical address on astronomy just referred to, there are 23 papers on the printed program for the section on astronomy, the local observatory being responsible for 11 of these. The following is the list, with a short synopsis of the subject matter of each.

characteristics of their spectrum lines. A small number of these, like alpha Cygni, are intrinsically very luminous and are thought to average 10,000 times the luminosity of our sun. These require further study, but the vast majority are found to be from eight to 100 times the sun's luminosity. Knowing their real brightness, a simple calculation gives the parallax or distance. No previous determinations of distance were available for 654 of these stars.

"The Solar Motion With Respect to Distance from the Galactic Plane as Determined from Class A Stars" by Dr. Harper. Increasing data make possible improved values of the direction and speed with which the solar system is moving through space. A greatly increased number of radial velocities recently published from the Victoria Observatory makes possible the best determination to date of this motion when referred to these so-called hydrogen stars. It is found from the analysis of the motions of 1,366 such stars that there is a small progressive increase in velocity with increasing distance from the central plane. In the plane itself the velocity determined is 19.4 km/sec. while for stars whose perpendicular distance therefrom averages 200 light years this value reduces to 17.1 km/sec.

FREQUENT ECLIPSE

"The Spectrographic Components of Algol" by J. A. Pearce. All astronomers know the star Algol as one that undergoes a marked eclipse every 2 days 20 hours 49 minutes. Investigations over many years have shown that the eclipsing component stars A and B are in turn revolving in a two-year orbit about another star C, but theory and observation are not yet in full accord. Dr. Pearce last year undertook a new investigation which will cover three years and preliminary results, from the 58 plates to date, suggest that a satisfactory solution of the masses and dimensions of the triple system will result. The striking new feature is that through the use of fine-grained plates and high dispersion the spectrum of Algol C, the hitherto undiscovered companion of the eclipsing pair, has been recorded for the first time.

"The Absolute Magnitude of the P Cygni Stars" by Dr. C. S. Beals. Stars of this class are relatively rare and have hitherto been considered to be of uniform real luminosity approximately 25,000 times that of our sun, a value deduced at Harvard from 11 stars of this type in the Large Magellanic Cloud. The author determined the distances of seven such stars in our own galactic system and found a spread in their real luminosities of over seven magnitudes or about 800-fold. A similar range is found in novae which at a certain stage have the characteristics of a P Cygni star. The conclusion is reached that the original data from the Magellanic Cloud were incomplete, the possibility of which was recognized by the Harvard observers themselves. It is now felt that there is a considerable range of real brightness among stars of this class.

ORBITS OF STARS

"The Definitive Orbit of the Spectrographic Orbit of beta Arietis" by Dr. R. M. Petrie. This star was found to be of binary character by Vogel of Potsdam in 1903. Four years later the orbit was determined by Ludendorff and found to have a very high eccentricity, or in other words the paths of the two components in their revolution about each other were very oval shaped. Such orbits of high eccentricity are more likely to change their shape than is the case with circular orbits and so Dr. Petrie decided to re-observe the star in 1933. There are only six days each year when it can be observed at the most important phases and observations were not completed until this spring. No orbital changes of any account have taken place in the last 30 years' but a very precise orbit has now been secured which will not need any refinements in the next 50 years.

Another well-determined orbit is described in a paper "The Spectrographic Orbit of H.D. 195986" by Dr. Andrew McKellar. The binary nature of the star was discovered at Victoria in 1924 and by combining these early observations with those of last year the period of revolution is determined as 5.38275 days. The velocities from the ionized lines of calcium are not in complete agreement with the other stellar lines. The discrepancy is traced to the blending of interstellar calcium and such abnormality becomes supporting evidence of the rotation of the galaxy.

ALUMINIZING

"The Aluminizing Apparatus of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory" by Dr. Andrew McKellar. A description is given of the evaporation chamber constructed at the Victoria Observatory in which the secondary mirrors of the 72-inch telescope have been successfully aluminized by the evaporation process. The brilliance of the coating greatly exceeds that of silver, especially in the violet region, while it is expected to have a ten-fold longer life.

"Observations of Line Intensities in Solar-Type Stars" by K. O. Wright. The central intensities of about 150 absorption lines in the spectra of the sun and three bright stars, Procyon, alpha Persei and gamma Cygni have been measured with the registering microphotometer. While the solar lines have previously been studied, very little of this precise line-contour work has been undertaken for the stars. The author finds a residual intensity of from 5 to 10 per cent at the centre of the lines, showing that the absorbing atoms are not 100 per cent effective. The results show the increasing strength of the iron and lines from the hotter to the cooler stars and in particular they show the great increase in intensities for the lines of the ionized atoms from dwarfs to giants.

"On the Use of Aluminum-on-Glass Gratings in the Victoria Spectrograph" by C. S. Beals and A. McKellar. Generally speaking the greater the dispersion employed in obtaining spectra of the stars the more information is derived. The ordinary glass prisms do not give satisfactory dispersion in the yellow and red regions of the spectrum and so a combination of a prism and a grating has been employed with satisfactory results. The grating which is of the aluminum-on-glass type was ruled by Professor R. W. Wood. It has 15,000 lines to the inch and throws a large percentage of light in one second order spectrum. With it Dr. Beals has studied the interstellar sodium lines in the yellow region of the spectrum and finds evidence of complexity in their structure, suggesting discrete clouds of sodium atoms in the vast spaces between the stars. Dr. McKellar has observed on spectrograms taken with this instrument features in the molecular bands in the very cool red stars that could not be found with the prisms only.

"A Study of Cygni in Its Relation to the P Cygni Stars" by Dr.

C. A. Beals and G. H. Blanchet. This paper represents a report on an extended study of the intensities and displacements of lines in the spectrum of Alpha Cygni. The object has been to determine whether the ejection of atoms from the stellar surface is an important factor in determining the displacements of lines due to various elements. Evidence has been found which points to the ejection of hydrogen atoms at a velocity of the order of 50 km/sec. In the case of other atoms the result is so far inconclusive. It is proposed to extend the observations to include a study of the variable velocity of this star.

Store Will Hold Picnic Wednesday

The annual picnic for employees of David Spencer Limited will be held on Wednesday afternoon of this week at Woodside Farm, Sooke.

A varied program has been prepared for the day, which includes novelty sports and other entertainment. A chicken dinner and dancing in the evening will bring the day to a close. Buses will leave the Douglas Street entrance to the store at 1.30.

V. Simmons is chairman of the committee in charge, with H. Street, W. Ross, F. Tadmor, Miss S. Underwood and Mrs. Turner.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk banking with you. He will be glad to answer your questions from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

DON'T OVER-RATE YOUR BANKER

He cannot perform Miracles

There would be more banks than grocery stores all over Canada if banks could perform the miracle of "creating" the means of payment out of nothing.

It is easy to confuse these two things:

- (a) The business of commercial banking, and
- (b) Control of a nation's monetary system.

Commercial banking has to do with the safe-keeping and lending of money and credit.

Control of a monetary system is a matter of national, governmental policy.

Chartered banks finance production and commerce.

Monetary policy in any country is a matter for the national government itself, either directly, or through a central bank.

The Dominion Parliament established Canada's central bank in 1934—the Bank of Canada. Its purpose was declared by Parliament in the very first paragraph of the Act of Incorporation, as follows:

"To regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit and to mitigate by its influence fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices and employment so far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action, and generally to promote the economic and financial welfare of the Dominion."

It is for governments alone to determine a nation's monetary policy. Differing conditions of debt and trade may make what is wise for one country unwise for another.

Printing "tickets"—as currency has been called in some sections—entirely out of step with production would make everything you buy cost you more. A Canadian woman living in Germany during that country's inflation in 1923 had to pay 65,000,000 marks for an overcoat, and later 1,000,000,000 marks for a postage stamp! The business of commercial banking is something to be considered by itself, apart from central banking.

A commercial bank takes deposits. There are two kinds of them. For convenience, call them "savings" and "current". Say you are a workman, or a farmer. After you've paid your living costs out of your wage, or out of the proceeds of your crop, you have some dollars left over. Because you do not want to spend them at once you deposit them in a savings account.

That is a savings deposit. As distinguished from this is the "current" account. Say you are a merchant. You have expenses to meet day by day and therefore always carry a balance in an account against which you issue cheques for your business needs.

That is a current account. Let us say you have $100 in that account and you need $1,000 to meet some bills. You borrow it from the bank.

You give the manager your note and he places $1,000 to your credit as a deposit in your current account. Immediately your balance goes up to $1,100—$1,000 of it being derived directly from a loan.

It is unlike a savings deposit in this respect: You intend to spend it at once. You immediately issue cheques against it. You borrowed the money for business purposes, prepared to pay interest because the transaction was a profitable one to you. Soon most of the thousand has been paid out.

For most of the rest of the term of the loan your deposit is at its lowest. Then, before your note is due, you gather money to repay. Up goes your deposit to its peak again.

Then you repay. Your deposit abruptly drops back to say your original $100—plus the profit you have made, by the use of the borrowed money.

No matter whether bank deposits are savings or current, your bank must keep on hand cash reserves adequate to meet any demands from day to day.

When its loans are increased, not only is more cash paid out—as was the case with your $1,000 loan; but your bank's cash reserves also become lower in proportion to total deposits.

A bank must not unduly expand its lending operations, for then its cash will fall below the proportion which experience has shown to be necessary to meet the day-to-day demands of depositors. This very fact serves as an automatic check against excessive lending.

Your bank cannot know just when you will walk in to withdraw your deposit—but it must be ready to pay you, in full, in cash, when you do turn up.

Guide Fete Drew Many Patrons

Mrs. Curtis Sampson
Hostess Saturday;
$130 for Camp Fund

Given a delightful setting like
"Molton Combe" and an excellent cause like that of the Girl Guides, the combination spells success and Saturday afternoon's garden fete at the home of Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Newport Avenue, proved an outstanding success from both the social and financial standpoint. Many visitors were welcomed by the hostess in the beautiful garden, and so generous was the patronage of the many attractions that, as a result, the sum of about $130 will be added to the fund for the new Guide camp at Sooke.

In the unavoidable absence of Reeve R. R. Taylor, the party was opened by Capt. William Ellis, who, in an appropriate and happy little speech, congratulated the Guides upon their undertaking, wishing them every success and encouraging them to spread the good word of guiding throughout all districts in Victoria.

Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft had charge of the bridge and mah-jong tables being arranged in the house. There were seven tables of players, and the prizes,
given by Mrs. L. A. Genge, district commissioner, and presented by Mrs. Walter Nichol, were won by Mrs. C. S. Wilkie and Mrs. P. E. Taylor. Tea for the players was served in the dining-room, the table being charmingly arranged with a crystal bowl of pink and mauve sweet peas and green tapers in green glass candlesticks. Mrs. C.
V. Scrivener and Mrs. Sandham
Graves presided and Girl Guides assisted in serving.

TEA ARRANGEMENTS

Mrs. Curtis Sampson, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Genge, presided at the tea-table in the sun porch on the verandah, where the special guests, including Viscountess Colville, were entertained. Miss
"Boo" Wilson and other members of the Association assisted in serving. An exquisite bowl of Shirley poppies in vivid pinks centred the table.

In a secluded corner of the garden, tea was served to other guests at small tables. Mrs.
George Lillie, Mrs. Saxton-White and Mrs. F. D. McKechnie being in charge of the whole tea arrangements for the afternoon, and the garden tea tickets were sold by Mrs. Saxton-White and Miss Agnes Fish. Mrs. Mc-Kechnie, Mrs. W. J. Oliver and Mrs. W. H. Hayward presided at the urns and the assistants were Mrs. J. F. Lowe, Mrs. Allan
Harper, Mrs. G. E. Day, Mrs.
Adams and Mrs. Armstrong, together with Guides from the Joan of Arc, Edith Cavell, Gonzales and Oaklands companies.
Miss A. B. Cooke told fortunes.
There was folk dancing on the lawn, the Second Edith Cavell Company appearing in "Durham
Reel," "Haymakers" and "Black Nag." Barbara Gordon gave a recitation; Sheila Graves gave a number of clever impersonations and Joyce Unwin danced very charmingly. The Brownies appeared in a singing game,
"A Hunting We Will Go."

A treasure hunt caused much amusement and was won by Mrs.
V. Pritchard; the cake was won by Mr. William Hayward and a box of candy by Mrs. H. J. Davis.
Clock golf was in charge of Miss Marian Pitts. Coconut shies and a variety of other games were in charge of the Guides, and stalls of home cooking and candy did a thriving business.

Miss Arnaud, of the Edith Cavell Company, called for three heartily cheers for Capt. Ellis and for Mrs. Sampson, who with the district commissioner, Mrs.
Genge, welcomed the guests and assisted with the general arrangements of the afternoon's program.

Varsity Club To Honor Visitor

Princess At Girl Guide Review

Over 1,000 Parade for Princess Elizabeth
At Windsor Castle

WINDSOR, England (CP)—
Princess Elizabeth, 12-year-old heir presumptive to the throne, yesterday reviewed 1,000 Girl Guides from all over the Empire who marched in review before her in Windsor quadrangle.

Princess Elizabeth made her first uniformed public appearance in the blue tunic and pleated skirt of leader of the Buckingham Palace patrol of the Girl Guides.

Saluting beside her was her youngster sister, Princess Margaret, in the cinnamon brown dress and hat of the "Brownies," junior Girl Guides.

The King and Queen, Queen
Mary and the Princess Royal looked on while the two princesses reviewed the Guides after a special service in St. George's Chapel.

Lady Baden-Powell, Chief Guide, declared: "This is the greatest day in Guide history."
Princess Elizabeth was enrolled as a Girl Guide last December after she passed her tenderfoot test. Her company was formed at a meeting in the lakeside summer house in Buckingham Palace gardens, in London. Sixteen of her friends, daughters and relatives and friends of the King and Queen, made up the company.

Now Princess Elizabeth is working for her second class test, which will include such subjects as nature lore, signaling, knot-tying and bed-making.

Like other members of the company, she pays "tuppence" (four cents) from her weekly pocket money to help buy signaling flags, stationery and other requirements.

As patrol leader the Princess is responsible for the whole company. Accurate accounts and minutes of meetings are kept,
and every penny is accounted for.

Lodge Princess Alexandra, Daughters of England met on Thursday, Mrs. I. Tyrrell presiding. District Deputy Mrs. F.
Smith was present and gave a report of the fraternal visit to New Westminster. The district deputy installed into office Mrs.
G. Gosnell, P.P., as third guide;
Dorothy McVie as pianist; Mrs.
A. Gorton, P.P., as escort. The tea-room at the exhibition will be convened by Mrs. Tyrrell, assisted by Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Gosnell, Mrs.
Bell, Mrs. C. Smith, Mrs. Baker,
Mrs. Kirchin, Mrs. Stevenson,
Mrs. Elsmore, Mrs. Waters, Mrs.
Aldridge, Mrs. McVie, Dorothy McVie. Final arrangements were made for a garden party at the home of Mrs. Caldwell, P.P., on July 22. The affairs will be opened by Mrs. F. Smith. Members are reminded of the gift shower Wednesday at 6:30 o'clock, being the meeting of Juvenile Lodge, Princess Margaret Rose, towards their garden party to be held on July 6 at Mrs. Swan's residence, 1731 Kings Road. A shower for the Princess Alexandra garden party will be held at the home of the president, Mrs.
Tyrrell, 1113 Yates Street, on Thursday, July 7, at 7:30. Next meeting of the lodge will be held on July 21.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Mallek, formerly Dr. Josephine Schacher, of Montreal, whose wedding took place in Montreal yesterday will arrive here on June 30, on a visit to Dr. Mallek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Mallek, Linden Avenue.

Mrs. P. M. Barr of Berkeley, California, will arrive in Victoria tomorrow accompanied by her two children, Larry and Allison, to spend the remainder of the summer with her mother, Mrs.
C. W. Bradshaw, 29 Logan Avenue.

A party was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Olson, Island Highway, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. David Scafe, who were recently married.
Music, dancing and contests were enjoyed. Prizewinners were:
Messrs. R. Carlow, D. Scafe, H.
Aikman, A. McTavish and Mrs.
Allan Aikman. Red roses and white carnations decorated a table on which were many beautiful and useful gifts, which were presented to the guests of honor during the evening. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. D.
Scafe, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Scafe,
Mr. and Mrs. V. McTavish, Mr.
and Mrs. R. Carlow, Mr. and Mrs.
A. Aikman, Mr. and Mrs. H. A.
Brain, Mr. A. Ribbans, Mrs. E.
Clovelette, Mrs. M. Pimlott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wishart, Miss M. Ribbans,
Miss A. Carlow, Miss M. Brown,
Miss P. Wilkinson, Miss L. Brain,
Miss S. Holman, Messrs. D. Bennett, R. Balje, L. Wilkinson, G.
Carlow, H. and L. Aikman, A.
Olson, O. and C. Hincks, A. Mc-Tavish and R. McTavish.

Complimentary to Miss Elsie Olding, whose marriage to Mr.
John Terry will take place next month, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. L.
Schmelz, Finlayson Avenue, on Friday evening. A corsage bou-quet of orange blossoms and roses were presented to the guest of honor on her arrival, and Mrs.
Olding and Mrs. Terry received corsages of roses and fern. Disguised as groceries, the many beautiful and useful gifts were wheeled in on a grocer's truck
by Miss C. Schmelz and Miss M.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Army and Navy Veterans will hold their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 in the club rooms.

Junior I.O.D.E. Thanked For Assistance

Royal Bride Chapter
Receives Shield
From Rural School

That energetic young group of girls, the Royal Bride Junior Chapter I.O.D.E., received a much-appreciated testimonial to their work on Saturday afternoon when, at their monthly meeting held at the headquarters, they were presented with a handsome shield of spruce wood, made entirely by the pupils of McMurphy School, at McMurphy,
B.C., and sent to the chapter as a token of their appreciation for what the members had done for them.

Mrs. P. E. Corby, the regent, was in the chair. The chapter voted $50 to secondary education and $10 to the endowment fund.
Mrs. F. G. Mulliner, who carried the Royal Bride standard at the National meeting in Vancouver, presented the chapter with a cover for the standard in appreciation for the honor given her in carrying the standard on that occasion.

Betty Cottet, Joy Savage, Diana
Darling, Violet Harrison, Bunty
Clarke, Bernadette Corcoran,
Laura McBride, Isabel Ramsay, Georgina Dowdall and Joyce Harvey offered to serve at the tea to be given by Gonzales Chapter at the home of Mrs. Nichol on July 6.

Three interesting talks were given, by Rita Thomson, who spoke on the importance of aviation to Canada; by Gwen Peacock, who spoke on London, and by Almee Heddle, who gave a talk on the Orkney Islands, which she visited last year. When the chapter resumes its meetings on September 24, a series of short talks centring on Canada will be given.

New members welcomed to the chapter were: Diana Darling,
Jean Broughton, Edith Osborne, Muriel Armstrong, Isabel Ramsay and Laura McBride, and new members proposed were Dorothy Davies, Sandra Munroe and Joy Scurrah. After much discussion, the members decided to close the membership at 70.

The regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary to the Queen Alexandra Solarium was held on Thursday with Mrs. Mugford, the president, in the chair. The knitting convener, Mrs. Wise, reported six vests turned this month, making a total of 56 completed pieces this year. The sewing convener, Mrs. Archer, reported three dozen pairs of shorts and four dozen sun hats returned since last meeting. This makes a total of 19 1/2 dozen garments made this year. It was decided to hold an evening entertainment in September and plans for this were discussed. Mrs. Mugford was made convener and she and her committee will report in detail at the next meeting on September 15.

News of Clubwomen

The Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2 in the headquarters.

The annual tea of the Y.W.C.A. Annex will be held on Tuesday at the annex. All friends will be welcome. Miss Gilchrist, annex secretary; Mrs. W. H. Whiteley, convener of the annex committee, and Miss A. J. Fawcett will receive the guests. Mrs. Grimison and Mrs. A. J. Dallain will be the tea conveners and Mrs. T. A. Brown and Miss J. C. McIlwraith will have charge of the home cooking. Tea will be served indoors, and if the weather is fine, the stalls will be in the garden.

Daughters of England, Lodge Primrose No. 32, will hold a garden party on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. Osler, Doncaster Drive, which will be opened by Mrs. C. Smith, district deputy, at 2.30 p.m. Attractive stalls have been arranged by Mrs. E. Bisen and Mrs. L. Osler. Buses leaving town: Cadboro Bay bus at 1.15 and Gordon Head bus at 2.30. The next social meeting will be held on Friday. A strawberry social will be held and a good program has been arranged by the convener, Mrs. J. Stephenson.

The Ladies' Guild of Centennial Church held an enjoyable guest tea on Friday afternoon, in the schoolroom, which was effectively decorated with baskets of flowers. The hostesses included Mesdames Bruce, Hambleton, Alton, McCuaig, Fuller, Cox, Couch and Musgrave. Miss Helen Kirkwood, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., was the guest speaker, and the musical program included songs by Mesdames Lane, Corneless and Leach, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Paul Green.

The Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter I.O.D.E. held their monthly meeting on Friday at headquarters. The treasurer reported on the tag day held on May 21, the gratifying sum of $194.37 being realized. Mrs. W. Macdonald will convene for the chapter for Alexander Rose tag day. The sum of $21 was donated to send three Sea Cadets to summer camp. Mrs. P. Cunningham gave a very interesting report of the National annual meeting held in Vancouver. Arrangements were completed for the contest held at the exhibition in September. Mrs. V. M. Gallon was welcomed as a new member.

Members and friends of the First United Church Young Adults Group spent a happy evening on the beach at McMorran's, Cordova Bay, Friday, June 17. Strawberries and ice cream were a special feature of the evening refreshments, with Miss Eileen Bowles and Mr. Douglas Smith in charge. Entertainment for the evening was under direction of Miss Charlotte Crawford and Mr. Elton Jones and included various suitable games and a sing-song around the beach fire. Dr. and Mrs. Murray Anderson were made welcome as special guests of the evening, having been absent from the city for the past year.

Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238, Order of the Daughters of St. George, met Friday in the K. of C. Hall, with the president, Mrs. S. Hennis, in the chair, and a large attendance. Installation of officers took place at an impressive ceremony performed by the district deputy, Mrs. N. Muckle, and supreme conductors, Mrs. E. Burke and Mrs. E. Sparkes, assisted by the guard team, who looked attractive in their uniforms of white dresses with red capes and cuffs, carrying ribbedon staffs. The following officers were installed: Past president, Mrs. S. Hennis; worthy president, Mrs. E. Campbell; vice-president, Mrs. E. Duncan; first conductor, Mrs. E. Sladden; second conductor, Mrs. J. Mason; inside guard, Mrs. J. Molyneux; outside guard, Mrs. A. Spaven; trustees, Mrs. F. Lee and Mrs. A. Green. A delightful ceremony took place after the installation, when the new president presented District Deputy Mrs. Muckle with a bouquet, and Past President Mrs. Hennis with the past president's jewel and a silver rose bowl. The retiring past president, Mrs. E. Graham, and supreme conductors also received bouquets. Hand-painted cake plates were presented to Mrs. A. Spaven and Mrs. H. Tisdale. Preceding the installation a meeting took place and plans were made to hold a garden party at the home of Mrs. J. Mason, 1117 Esquimalt Road on July 13. There will be needlework and home-cooking stalls and house-houses. Princess Patricia Lodge will, in conjunction with Victoria Lodge, hold a memorial service in the K. of C. Hall, Sunday, June 26. Members please bring flowers. Officers of both lodges will hold a practice next Friday afternoon in the K. of C. Hall.

Mother of the Bridegroom

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt chose her favorite color, "Eleanor blue," for the gown she wore at the wedding of her son John and Anne Lindsey Clark today at Nahant, Mass. The wife of the United States president is pictured above as she received a final fitting at Arnold Constable & Co., in New York. The gown is of Eleanor blue silk crepe, with a contrasting overdress of navy blue net, and a bolero of Eleanor blue Chantilly lace. With it, Mrs. Roosevelt wore a picture hat of navy blue net banded with navy blue velvet and Eleanor blue grosgrain ribbon.

Recent Weddings

EARDLEY-WILLIAMS

Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiated at the marriage of Hazel, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams, Palo Alto Drive, and Mr. Thomas Arthur Eardley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Eardley, 2430 Mowat Street, which took place at 7.30 o'clock Saturday evening in St. Aidan's Church, Mount Tolibie. Mr. Percy Boorman presided at the organ.

Owing to the illness of the bride's father, she was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Richard Bryant Williams. She wore a Marino blue tailored suit with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of carnations, sweetheart roses and sweet peas. Miss Beatrice May Williams was her sister's bridesmaid in a dark grey suit with blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. The bridegroom was supported by his brother-in-law, Mr. George Smethurst.

Relatives and a few friends were entertained at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony in a fragrant setting of roses and other summer flowers. Vases of roses and sweet peas were arranged on the supper table, which was centred with the bride's cake. Mrs. Williams wore a black and white redingote frock with black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother was dressed in navy blue. They both wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Eardley will make their home in Oak Bay. Out-of-town guests were Miss Shirley Sanders and Mr. Jack Tillison, both of Moose Jaw.

KELLOW-PILLAR

St. John's Church was the scene of a quiet wedding Saturday evening at 8.30 when Georgina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Pillar, Beaver Road, Royal Oak, became the bride of Mr. Robert J. Kellow, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kellow, 378 Burnside Road. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick performed the ceremony in the absence of relatives of the young couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming gown of dusty rose pink triple sheer, featuring smocking at the waistline and shirring on the shoulders and sleeves. Her train of white silk pique was finished with corded ribbon bows, and her accessories were white. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, gladioli and roses. She was unattended and Mr. R. Sinkinson was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Pink and white decorations were used throughout the rooms. A two-tiered wedding cake, set in folds of pink tulle, topped with a vase of rosebuds, centred the refreshment table which was arranged with crystal vases of sweet peas and tall white tapers in crystal holders.

The bride's mother wore a smart navy blue dress with white trimmings and a navy blue straw hat. Mrs. Kellow wore a becoming gown of brown flat crepe with hat to match. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and sweet peas with fern.

Later the happy couple left for a motor trip up-island, the bride traveling in a navy blue linen dress trimmed with white with white accessories, and a navy blue coat. On their return they will reside at Mount Tolibie.

SWEETING-LEDSON

At a pretty ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday evening, Rev. G. A. Reynolds united in marriage Iris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ledson, Hollywood Crescent, and Mr. William Sweeting, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sweeting, Fairfield Road.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a charming frock of periwinkle blue lace with a halo of lace and tulle to match. She carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas and carnations. Her sister, Miss Hazel Ledson, was her only attendant and wore a dress of dusty rose with a flowered bandeau in her hair. Her bouquet was of pink snapdragons, blue delphiniums and white carnations.

Mr. Leslie Ledson supported the groom. Miss Edna Middleton played the wedding march, and as the register was being signed Miss Bertrice Unwin sang "Through the Years."

The young couple stood beneath an arch of pink roses and greenery to receive the congratulations of their friends. The guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a flowered crepe. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and sweet peas.

During the evening Miss Unwin sang "At Dawning," and Mr. Harry Nancarrow sang "Bless This Home" and "Bells of the Sea."

The three-tier wedding cake centred the supper table, which was arranged with vases of pink roses and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweeting left at midnight for the holiday on the mainland, the bride traveling in a suit of British tan, with brown accessories, and on their return they will make their home on Robertson Street.

Among the gifts were a silver tier service from the bride's associates at the "Coffee Cup," and a cheque from the management, and a sandwich toaster from the officers and crew of C.G.S. Berens, of which the bridegroom is a member.

Pro Patria W.A. Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. will hold a social evening Tuesday in the Eagles Hall Government Street at 8. Owing to the large attendance at the last social, this one will be held in the large hall. There will be a card game and house-houses and refreshments will be served.

There were 3,000 coffee houses in London in 1675.

Columbia W.A. Welcomed at Metchosin

The Diocesan Board of Columbia W.A. met on Friday, June 17 at Metchosin, the president, Mrs. D. M. Duncan, in the chair. Mrs. F. Osborne, president of St. Mary's branch, welcomed the unusually large number of delegates and members present. A letter was read from Bishop Sexton extending his greeting to the conference and expressing his good wishes for the success of the meeting.

The president introduced and welcomed Miss F. O.G. Phepoe of Vancouver, vice-president for western Canada of the Dominion board; Mrs. A. Bischofberger of St. Paul's, Esquimalt, lately appointed an honorary member of the diocesan executive, and several out-of-town guests.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Bengough, told of branches that had already sent in the amount of this year's increased pledge. The thank-offering secretary, Mrs. G. T. Hughes, gave a splendid report of a visit she had recently made to the Indian Residential School in Elkhorn, Manitoba. Mrs. Philip reported both magazines and sacks needed for Columbia Coast Mission. The embroidery guild, represented by Mrs. T. J. Greenway, had on display a very beautiful piece of work, part of a set recently completed.

Among the various departmental reports, interest centred on the trip made to Nanaimo, Parksville and Courtenay branches by four diocesan officers, the president, the junior secretary, Miss G. Cheekley; the girls' secretary, Mrs. F. Frew, and the Living Message secretary, Miss D. Mott. A junior rally was also held in Duncan with members from three branches present.

The rector, the Rev. H. M. Bolton, conducted the noonday service in St. Mary's Church, and gave a helpful address on Christian fellowship.

Miss Phepoe was the speaker and told of the Indian work in various parts of the province, described the scattered groups in the sparsely-settled districts, organized into W.A. branches and gave a vision of the broad outlook necessary in the association.

Mrs. Dickson moved a vote of thanks to the Metchosin branch and to the rector. Tea was served. The September board meeting will be held on Salt Spring Island on the third Wednesday of the month.

SOCIETY

The christening took place on Sunday of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Ulrich, Neil Street, at St. Matthias' Church, Rev. Alan Gardner officiating. The baby received the names David Frederick Juul. The godparents were Miss Joan Glendinning, Mrs. Jack Norris, and Mr. S. Ulrich, Denmark, for whom Mr. K. Ulrich stood proxy. After the ceremony, tea was served at the home of the baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Glendinning, Eberts Street.

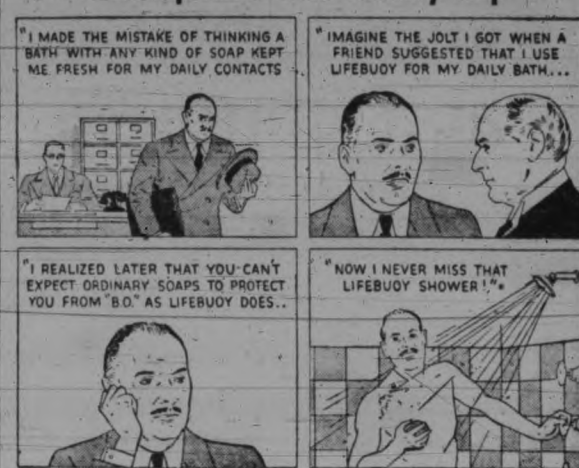

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller, 625 Linden Avenue, Miss Rae Miller entertained at the tea hour on Saturday afternoon when she assisted by Miss Marion Carter and Miss Josephine Wilson who presided at the tea table which was centred with a bowl of pink rosebuds and flanked by lighted pink tapers in silver sconces. Assisting in serving were the Misses Phyllis Dickinson and Connie Sullivan. The invited guests included Misses Laura Barty, Pat Boyd, Ruby May Brown, Mary Louise Bryant, Betty Mae Cameron, Marion Carter, Pat Crawford, Joyce Dalziel, Phyllis Dickinson, Iris Dixon, Anne Gardiner, Helen Gilliland, Muriel Hawkes, Ruth and Betty Lou Horton, Barbara Hutcheon, Diane and Daphne Ker, Nancy Kyle, "Ticky" Lindgren, Enid Long, Ena Lovick, Donna McInnes, Hilda Newton, "Bunny" Patterson, Dorothy Peacock, Suzette Plimley, Audrey Porter, R. Prentice, Mary Riddell, Ann Ridewood, Grace Stuart, Connie Sullivan, Maza Takahashi, Muriel and Betty Thatcher, Josephine Wilson and Gwen Wright.

On Saturday evening at the Esquimalt Carpet Bowling Club Rooms, a shower was given in honor of Miss Rosie Durrant and Mr. James Rogers, whose marriage will take place this month. The gifts were concealed in the heart of a rose and covered a large table. Mr. T. Riley representing the men's section, E.C.B., presented the prospective bride and groom with a handsome standard lamp. The club rooms were decorated throughout in pink and white, with masses of flowers in those colors. Cards and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Findlay, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roger, Mr.

"YOU CAN'T EXPECT ORDINARY SOAPS TO PROTECT YOU FROM 'B.O.' AS LIFEBOUY DOES"

E. C. SHERMAN, successful salesman. Relates sad experience with ordinary soap

Just you try bathing with Lifebuoy for a week—and you'll be one of the millions who just wouldn't "miss" that daily Lifebuoy bath. The chances are you'll never go back to ordinary soap. For no ordinary soap stops "B.O." as Lifebuoy does... No ordinary soap gives you the same pepped-up, extra-clean feeling Lifebuoy does. And you are extra clean, you know. For Lifebuoy contains an exclusive purifying ingredient not in any other popular bath or toilet soap. Use Lifebuoy for your complexion, too. Its gentle lather will help clear, freshen, bring out your skin's natural loveliness. Lifebuoy is by test more than 20% milder than many leading "beauty" and "baby" soaps. Get the Lifebuoy habit—for bath, for complexion and for hands! Remember, the germs of 27 or more diseases may be spread by hands alone—and that Lifebuoy's purifying lather removes germs as well as dirt!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else like amous London enclosure. The initial match at Nottingham ended in a draw.

Hardstaff, a dependable batsman and seasoned test player, was chosen to play at Nottingham, but injured a hand in a motor accident. Wellard's inclusion was not unexpected, in view of his form in recent matches. Somerset's fast bowler to date has taken 67 wickets in county championship matches for an average of 18.68. Wellard, who toured India with Lord Lyons's team last winter, is also known as a hurricane hitter.

PAYNE PUTS ON 69 RUNS

Leads Five C's to Cricket
Win Over Victoria; Incogs
Beat Cowichan

In the opening matches of the annual knockout cricket competition played Saturday afternoon, Five C's took Victoria for a 173 to 150 defeat at Beacon Hill, while University School Incogs traveled to Cowichan and batted out a 118 to 83 victory over the home side.

On the Beacon Hill Park pitch, George Payne, Five C's brilliant batsman, sparked his team to victory when he put on 69 runs before being bowled by Sparks. Payne was in fine batting form and made several hits to the boundary. Two of his teammates also reached double figures.

Victoria started out batting strongly. Sparks and Austin were dismissed after putting on 18 and 15 runs, respectively, and after losing two wickets cheaply, Moore contributed 21 and Moffat had a long session, scoring 50 runs before being bowled. But they were still 23 runs behind their opponents when time was called. There is a two-hour time limit for each team under the rules of the knockout competition.

AT COWICHAN

At Cowichan the Incogs went to bat first and put on 118 runs against the home side. Top scorers were Smith and Tisdall with 33 and 25 runs, respectively. Bryden and J. Wenman also gained double figures.

A good stand was made by E. S. Fox and W. Mowbray, Cowichan's first wicket combination. They were high scorers, contributing 41 runs between them. R. Vaughan added 15 and W. Corbushley 11, but other Cowichan batters did not fare very well against the visiting bowlers.

Albions defeated Victoria B by two wickets when they met at Macdonald Park in a friendly fixture. Albions got 86 for eight wickets, while Victoria B scored 60.

STEELE WILL MEET HOSTAK

Middleweight Champ Signs to Defend Title at Seattle
July 26

SEATTLE—Al Hostak, a kid from the other side of the railroad tracks in Seattle, has beaten Fred Apostoli and young Corbett III to the punch. Of the three leading contenders for the world middleweight boxing championship, Hostak gets first crack at Freddie Steele and his title.

Promoter Nate Duxman announced Saturday he had landed the Pacific Northwest's flakiest natural—a 15-round championship battle between the two neighborhood rivals. The fight will be held outdoors in the Seattle Civic Stadium the night of July 26.

New York promoters have been dickered for a Steele-Apostoli title fight, and San Francisco has been trying for a Corbett-Steele scrap.

Duxman said he guaranteed Steele $30,000, with the option of a percentage of the gate, which he expects will gross close to $100,000.

Army Band Gives Pleasing Program

The Salvation Army band from the New Westminster Citadel was given an enthusiastic reception by a large crowd of Victorians in Beacon Hill Park yesterday when it presented a program consisting chiefly of spiritual music.

The band was under the direction of Bandmaster F. Delamont. Prayers were offered by Adjutant Charles Watt, commanding officer of the Victoria corps, and a Scripture reading was given by Bandsman A. Stobart.

The program included the following numbers:

March, "Under Two Flags" (Coles); selection, "English Melodies" (Hill); vocal duet, Bandsman Wagner and Stobart; trombone solo; band song, "Twenty-third Psalm"; selection, "Song of Ireland" (Streeton); euphonium solo, "I Love Him Better Every Day" (Delamont); cornet duet, "Captain and Lieutenant," Larsen and Troke; selection, "Roll Along, Jordan"; vocal solo, Captain J. Nelson; brass quartette, "Abide With Me"; hymn tune, "Deep Harmony"; march, "Brooklyn Citadel" (Beachell); benediction.

Stories of Common Things
1—KNIVES

No one knew how to write at the beginning of the Stone Age, but we have records of a sort. Deep down in the ground—under the floors of caves and elsewhere—we have found stone knives, also stone axes.

It is likely that knives were made before axes. Stone Age men needed knives to cut off hides of animals they killed. Hundreds of stone knives have been located in Europe. These knives were made chiefly from flint. The sharp edge for the blade was obtained by breaking and chipping the stone.

Norfolk "sportman's knife."

Another early form—of a knife was a broken shell. Shells of some kinds have very sharp edges when broken. Certain Indians on this continent used shell "razors" to cut off what little hair grew on their faces.

Savage men in every land were glad when white traders brought them steel knives. A steel blade, if well treated, will keep its sharp edge a long time, and is far better for cutting than any knife of stone or shell.

Metal knives were used in ancient Egypt, also in Babylon. For a time, the blades were made of bronze, but later they were formed of iron or steel.

Five hundred years ago, it was a custom in Europe for a man to carry a knife around in his belt. This knife was used when he went hunting, also when he sat down at the dinner table. It was the fashion to lift food to the mouth on the blade of a knife. Today we say a person has "poor manners" if he employs a knife in that way.

Think of how many kinds of knives there are today! We have table knives, pocket knives, putty knives and carving knives. There are knives for cutting sugar cane, for taking oysters from their shells, for spreading butter on bread. A knife with a curved blade is used for cutting oilcloth. Some families have special "bread knives"—with wavy-edged or saw-toothed blades. There also are chopping knives, hacking knives, and paper-hanger's knives.

Knife blades are hardened when heated to a high temperature, then are plunged into a liquid, usually water. This makes the metal hard, but it is brittle and would break easily if something more were not done. The next step in making a high grade knife, is to "temper" the blade by heating it again, but this time not to such a high temperature before it is plunged into a cooling liquid.

Eighty-seven years ago, the "Norfolk sportman's knife" was put on public view by a firm in England. It had 75 blades, hooks, and so on. That knife was just a novelty, and was not meant for sale. Some pocket knives widely sold today have parts to use as screw-drivers, corkscrews, bottle-openers and so on.

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, JUNE 21 1938

Adverse planetary aspects dominate today, according to astrology. There may be nervous tension and a tendency to argument or quarrels.

Arrogance and unreasonableness may be apparent in both men and women who exercise authority. Employees should be exceedingly diplomatic.

Women are fortunate under this configuration which brings happiness to those who find their chief interest in domestic activities. It is a lucky date for bringing together intimate friends and for celebrations.

There may be many accidents owing to an evil omen which seems to forecast perils in the air and the water. Drownings will increase in number this season, it is predicted.

Children born on this day probably will be positive in nature and exceedingly intelligent. Subjects of this sign are on the cusp of Gemini and Cancer. They may be exceedingly versatile.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the urgency of a year of crises in which new associations will bring better conditions, financial and social.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married 18 years and have a darling child. My husband has always been good and kind to me and my family. We have a beautiful home luxuriously furnished. He gives me anything I want and is still deeply in love with me. But here is the trouble: A young man much younger than myself has come along whose company I enjoy immensely, and I find myself planning things that I know will bring us together. My husband resents this. He does not quarrel, but every time I am with the other man he watches my every move and I can see that it is like a dagger thrust into his heart, and it is getting on my nerves to see him pout around all the time. He is not at all like his old self and talks very little. Is this because of his jealousy? Or could his love be growing cool? I am entirely dependent upon my husband. Should I stop seeing the other man, or let my husband suffer needlessly and try to cure him of his jealousy?

Answer: Well, lady, you can't have your cake and eat it, too. You can't philander with your boy friend and expect your husband to sit around and like it. You wouldn't enjoy the situation if it was reversed and he was having an affair with a pretty young girl about half your age and heft. You'd do some pouting yourself then.

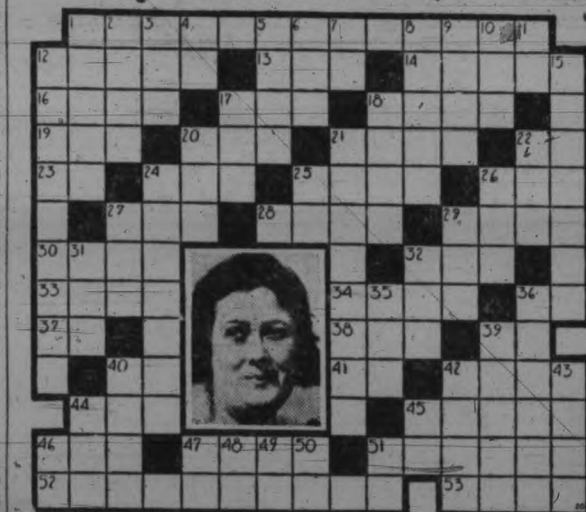

There is no such thing as an innocent and harmless flirtation between a married man or a married woman and a young girl or boy. Every one of them is loaded with TNT and, if they don't explode and blow everybody concerned to Kingdom Come, it is just pure luck.

Because the mere fact that when a husband or wife gets a wandering foot and goes forth seeking adventure it shows that he or she has lost his or her taste for his or her mate and is no longer satisfied and happy at home. It is only after a man is fed up with domesticity that he begins to listen to the songs of the gold-diggers. It is only after a woman begins to wonder if some gigolo isn't her soulmate instead of her prosaic middle-aged husband that she begins to wander into forbidden paths, and no matter how much she protests she means no harm—harm and wrecked homes do come of it.

As for you, foolish lady, you need to be incarcerated in a padded cell until you come to your senses, for you are risking a good husband, a good home and luxurious living for a fling with a boy who probably wouldn't marry you if you were free to marry him and who couldn't support you if he did.

Expedition Here To Honor Heroes

Around the Docks

A dense fog outside the straits delayed the Blue Funnel liner Tyndareus in reaching port today from the Far East. She is expected alongside Rithet docks this afternoon to discharge 150 tons of cargo before shifting to Vancouver.

Tyndareus has 29 storage passengers aboard for British Columbia and 17 for Seattle.

MOVERIA TONIGHT

Coming here from the United Kingdom via Seattle, Ms. Moveria, of the Donaldson Line, will reach her berth at Rithet docks about 10 tonight, according to Bob Cumberbirch, of British Consolidated Ltd., agents for the line.

Moveria has 150 tons of bananas and citrus fruits for unloading here and while alongside will take aboard 10,000 feet of lumber.

AGENT TO RETIRE

After 47 years of continuous service with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Oscar William Day, agent for the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway for the last eight years at Nanaimo, will retire under the company's superannuation regulations on June 30. Mr. Day first started with the C.P.R. at Port Portage in 1891, and came to the coast in 1905 being employed both in Vancouver and Victoria until 1911. He also served as agent at Duncan, Wellington and Courtenay, and was first agent at Qualicum, being transferred to Nanaimo in 1930.

Following retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Day will visit Victoria, thence Nanaimo, Ontario, his old home town, continuing later to England.

Pandora Party to Dedicate Monument to Rogers and Post at Barrow Aug. 15

To honor the memory of Will Rogers and Wiley Post, who perished three years ago when their plane crashed in Alaska, an expedition reached Victoria this morning aboard the 38-foot diesel cruiser Pandora, bound for Point Barrow.

The members of the expedition are: Dr. Homer Flint Kellems, Tulsa, Okla.; Rev. Roy E. Curtis, Hillsboro, Texas; Wilmer J. Sims, personal representative of James V. Allred, governor of Texas; John Kayser, son of a Chickasha, Okla., newspaperman, and Clarence Lee, engineer.

"We expect to reach Barrow August 5 and plan to dedicate the monument August 15," said Mr. Sims, following the arrival of the Pandora alongside the Enterprise wharf.

The purpose of the expedition is to erect on the spot where Rogers and Post crashed a stone marker 15 feet high and six feet square at the base, subscribed for by the citizens of Claremore, Okla., Will Rogers' home town.

It will be exactly three years since Will Rogers and Wiley Post met untimely death on the Alaskan tundra 15 miles south of Barrow.

Stone for the monument, taken from the same quarries from which the rock of the Will Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Okla., was quarried, is being transported to Alaska by the U.S. coastguard cutter Northland, it was stated by Dr. Kellems.

BROADCAST PLANNED

It is planned to have President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes participate in a special broadcast August 15 when the memorial is dedicated at Barrow, the members of the expedition stated.

The expedition sailed from Los Angeles late in May and called at Santa Monica and Seattle en route here.

Equipped with a 40-horsepower diesel engine, giving her a speed of seven knots, the Pandora is flying the burgee of the South Coast Corinthian Yacht Club, the pennant having been presented to the party before its departure from Santa Monica.

In order to escape the rough seas in the north, Dr. Kellems said, the Pandora will be portaged 350 miles overland from Seward to Nenana on the Tanana River on the outward trip.

Dr. Kellems is an experienced navigator and the other members of the party are expected to become proficient in their respective duties by the time the vessel reaches her northern destination.

The Pandora will make frequent stops en route north for supplies.

While at Seattle the vessel was equipped with radio of sufficient power to enable the expedition to maintain communication with Los Angeles.

Although reliance is being placed in the diesel motor, a spare mast and sails are carried by the Pandora for use in an emergency.

King Goes to Aid

S.S. Prince Rupert, 3,379-ton Canadian National Steamships coast liner, was reported proceeding southbound today after pulling herself from the shore of Johnstone Strait, where she had been stranded for several hours.

S.S. Salvage King, of the Pacific Salvage Company, was dispatched from Victoria at 10.30 this morning to assist the vessel. Radio advices reaching here from Capt. Neil MacLean, of the Prince Rupert, said the ship, carrying 80 passengers, including a large party of Alaska tourists, ran aground off Camp Point, near Salmon River in Johnstone Strait, in a dense fog early today.

The ship's rudder was reported to be damaged. The Prince Rupert, one of the largest of the Canadian National's coasting fleet, was southbound from Ocean Falls for Powell River and Vancouver when she grounded.

The vessel, scheduled to reach Vancouver at 9.30 this morning, is not expected to arrive there until tomorrow.

Modern Etiquette

1. Does a wedding invitation sent to a young woman imply that she is to ask an escort?
 2. Should an invitation to a home wedding be answered?
 3. Who writes the thank-you notes for wedding presents?
 4. Should a bride be careful in the amount of makeup she wears during the ceremony?
 5. Who cuts the first slice of wedding cake?
- What would you do if—
You are having a house wedding and your guest list must be limited to a few intimate friends and relatives—
(a) Send out announcements to the friends and acquaintances you could not include in your invitations?
(b) Send invitations to all—knowing that it is likely many will not be able to attend?
(c) Invite the few you can to let the others learn of your marriage through the newspapers?

Answers

1. No.
 2. Always.
 3. The bride writes them all.
 4. Yes for she shouldn't look "made up."
 5. The bride.
- Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a).

WEDDINGS

KNIGHT-THORNEYCROFT.
A pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon Wednesday, June 15, at St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, Canon H. V. Hitchcock officiating, when Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thorneycroft of Nanaimo, became the bride of William John Henry Knight of Chemainus.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a princess gown of white brocade satin, with long fitted sleeves and flared skirt, which continued into a small train. Her elbow-tip veil, showered with orange blossoms, was surmounted by a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore white silk mitts and carried a white kid prayerbook, with streamers showered with lily of the valley, roses and sweet peas.

Miss Elsie Thorneycroft, the only attendant, chose a pale blue tulle skirt net gown fashioned with high waist and full skirt, topped with a bolero. She wore a white hat trimmed with pink and blue flowers, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations, sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Mr. Eric Knight of Chemainus supported the groom. The ushers were Mr. Stanley Knight and Mr. Sam Thorneycroft. During the signing of the register the hymns, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" was sung by the choir. Mr. H. Palmer was at the organ.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Thorneycroft, mother of the bride, in a royal blue dress embroidered in silver with navy accessories, wearing a corsage of white carnations, and Mrs. H. E. Knight, the groom's mother, attired in a navy blue chiffon dress, embroidered with white flowers, and wearing a corsage of pink carnations and sweet peas. Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. Gard of Victoria, grandparents of the groom. The bride cut the four-tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. H. Knight left later for the interior. The bride traveled in a flowered chiffon dress with green topcoat and white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of souvenir carnations. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Knight will reside in Chemainus.

BROOM CUP SERIES OPENS

Kismet Finishes Close Winner Over Penguin in Dinghy Event Sunday

First of a series of five races for the Gorge Broom Cup was run off by dinghies over the quadrilateral course at Cadboro Bay on Sunday.

Kismet, skippered by Jack Gann, was first to cross the finishing line after fighting all the way with Penguin, Commodore E. P. Ashe, which held the lead to the last lap, the winner finishing but five seconds of her rival.

The entries were: Gullmot, W. H. Golby; Helen, John Todd; Kismet, Jack Gann; Puffin, G. Johnson and Penguin, Commodore E. P. Ashe.

Penguin took the lead when the boats got away from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club at 10.45 yesterday morning in a light southeasterly breeze. Kismet followed close behind with the rest of the fleet bunched together.

The race was fought out twice around the course by the Penguin and Kismet, the former holding the lead until the last leg when Kismet forged ahead.

Finishing times were: Kismet, 12.6.10; Penguin, 12.6.15; Gullmot, 12.6.32; Helen, 12.7.33; Puffin, 12.9.10.

Sailing the same course, three snipes completed, P.D.Q., O. Griffin; Klatawa, F. Ward, and Pelican, J. Moran. P.D.Q. took the lead and maintained her advantage all the way, the finishing times being: P.D.Q., 12.12.13; Klatawa, 12.16.29; Pelican, 12.23.28.

SATURDAY'S RACING

In the Longstreth and Devonian Cup series held Saturday afternoon, stars, dinghies and snipes competed in a light wind over the quadrilateral course. Paterson Cup to Flower Island, Cadboro Beach mark and home.

Saturday's finishing times were as follows:
Stars—Aurora, Bartrop, 4.36.40; Ripples, Halkett, 4.39.30; Aquila, Packford, 4.40.19; Boykin, Blandy, 4.45.

Dinghies—Kismet, Gann, 4.12.44; Penguin, Ashe, 4.14.12; Bandicoot, Heal, 4.16.51; Tahiti, Golby, 4.20.20; Dabchick, Beech, 4.20.30; Onaway, Ford, 4.26.55; 4.26.48; Tern, Wallace, 4.26.55; Puffin, Johnson, 4.32.22; Helen, Todd, 4.32.24.

Snipes—P.D.Q., Griffin; Klatawa, Ward, 4.40.43; Pelican, Moran, 4.46.50.

BIG YAWL HERE

Towing a lifeboat salvaged from the wreck of the freighter Nereus, the yawl Westward-Ho, owned by Miss Ruth Brown of Orcas Island, left the Inner Harbor at noon today for Orcas via Cadboro Bay.

Aboard the yawl was Capt. Barney Johnson, former Canadian National Steamships coast skipper and commander of submarines in the world war, who recently sold the Westward-Ho to Miss Brown.

Miss Brown, who has camps for boys and girls established at Orcas Island, proposes to remodel the Nereus's lifeboat as a houseboat.

"And at that, Bob,
I intend to have more..."

"...because life insurance is the one sure method to provide for all contingencies. The two policies I now have with Confederation Life, with Total Disability Benefits, are a good starter. They provide my family with $10,000 if I should die, and will pay me an income of $100 a month if I should become totally disabled through sickness or accident. I am going to put on additional insurance, so that if I live to retirement age, as I hope to do, my wife and I will be able to live in reasonable comfort and independence."

"Believe me, it's going to be Confederation Life again, too."
